GOV. TIEMANN TOLD . . .

Kurtz Foes Eye Action In Court

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Seven western Nebraska ranchers told Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann Thursday they are prepared to go to court to oust Fort Robinson State Park Supt. John C. Kurtz.

The governor advised the delegation to take their complaints up with the State Game Commission first, "if you can arrange a meeting." (The commission is scheduled to meet Friday.)

Tiemann emphasized he has no jurisdiction over the commission or its employes, but added, "If he was an appointee of mine, we'd have the matter cleared up fast."

If Necessary

Rex Rawie of Crawford, a retired colonel and spokesman for the group, said, "We would like to resolve this matter with a minimum of acrimony, but it may be necessary to resort to legal resources."

Rawie said more than 300 ranchers in Sioux, Box Butte and Dawes Counties, who own or control more than 500,000 acres, have signed the anti-Kurtz petition.

"People are aroused over this thing," he said. "They will be happy if Kurtz is just transferred out of the Panhandle."

'Intimidated'

The delegation said Kurtz has "intimidated and harassed" ranchers in the area, and listed "off the record" a number of incidents involving Kurtz they said were violations of state law.

"We're not a bunch of crackpots trying to skin a man because we like to do it," said Levi Richardson, a Crawford rancher. "He did a lot for the fort, but he has lost his effectiveness during the past five years."

Kurtz has been superintendent at Fort Robinson for about 11 years.

Personal Rift?

Tiemann asked if the actual cause of the dissension was a personal rift between Kurtz and Dr. S. C. Eittreim, a Crawford veterinarian.

Rawie made reference to an "assault" on the veterinarian by Kurtz, but declined to elaborate on the incident other than Dr. Eittreim required medical assistance.

That may have been "the straw that broke the camel's back," a delegation member said, "but our grievances go deeper and farther back than that."

Hung Up

The group said Martin Gable, Game Commission member from Scottsbluff, had been contacted, but he hung up the phone without response.

Richardson said Francis Hanna, commission member recently appointed by Tiemann, was more receptive to listening.

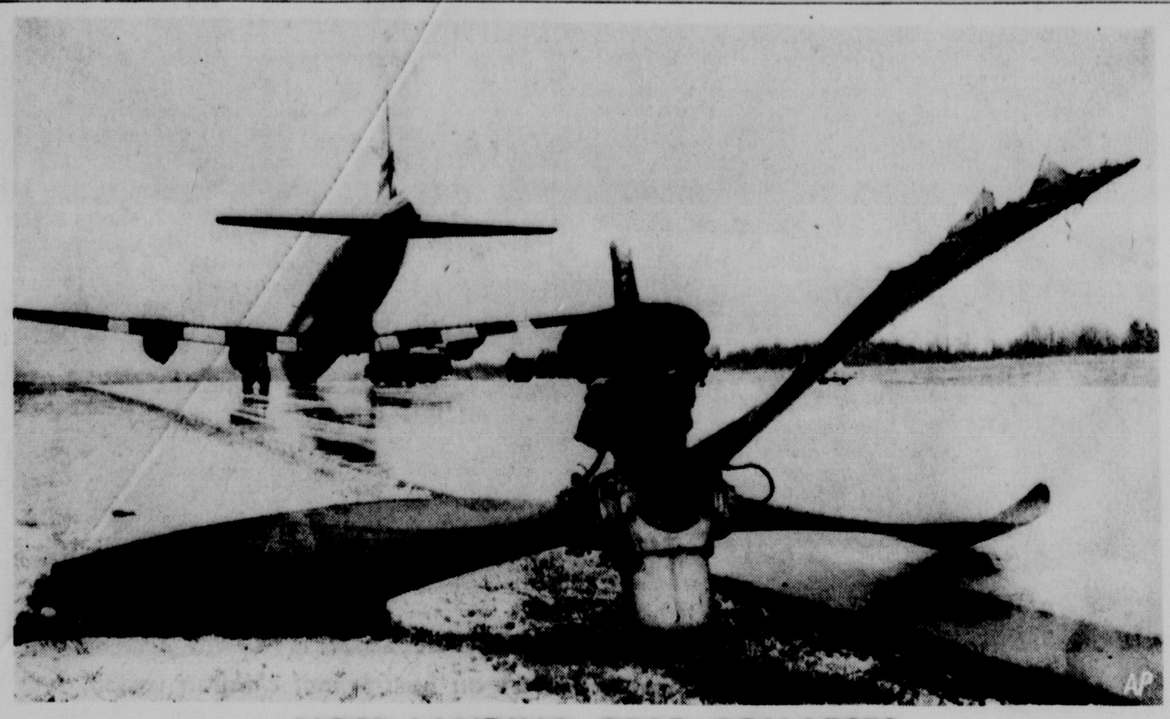
With Col. Rawie and Richardson Thursday were Calvin Lemon and Larry Haynes, both of Whitney; Ivol Buckley and Loren Walker, both of Harrison, and Willis Hoffman of Crawford.

McCarthy Raps Administration's Priority System

Kenne, N.H. (AP)—Sen. Eugene McCarthy, D-Minn., said Thursday night the administration is giving "low priority . . . to the problems faced in our cities, in our suburbs and on our farms."

In a prepared speech at Keene State College, McCarthy declared, "we are moving away from, not toward, a great society. The President's waking hours are spent in directing a far-off war."

McCarthy, who is challenging President Johnson in the New Hampshire presidential primary March 12, urged Americans to select new leadership which "can restore the respect and forward progress of the Kennedy administration."



NOSE LANDING GEAR COLLAPSES

A $700,000 airplane was heavily damaged Thursday when the nose landing gear collapsed. The Delta Airlines DC6 was being put through training maneuvers at Lovell Field in Chattanooga, Tenn. The jet runway was blocked, but the three pilots—two of them trainees—were not injured.

Marines, Viets Gaining In Hue

Saigon (AP) — U.S. Marines edged about 200 yards closer to Communist positions within Hue's walled citadel Thursday behind a curtain of bombs and shells laid down by jet fighters, Navy guns and land-based artillery.

"It was a relatively good pace," a Marine officer said, though their immediate objective was still 500 yards away.

South Vietnamese troops maneuvered at about the same pace in coordination with the Leathernecks against remnants of a North Vietnamese regiment which clung for the 16th day to palace grounds and some wall fortifications in Hue, the old imperial capital 400 miles north of Saigon.

Bombs Used

Marine fighter-bombers struck at the citadel's massive walls with bombs of 250, 500 and 750 pounds, employing heavy explosives in this action for the first time.

They had used rockets, napalm and tear gas in efforts Wednesday to root out the enemy.

A destroyer of the U.S. 7th Fleet lobbed in five-inch shells from the South China Sea. This added weight to the fire of field guns closer at hand.

Elsewhere across the country fighting was sporadic as the push went on to hunt down enemy troops who launched the lunar new year offensive against the country's major cities.

200 Said In Saigon

Spokesmen said there were only about 200 Viet Cong still within Saigon and that they had broken into small groups trying to get out.

Just 13 miles north-northwest of Saigon, 127 of the enemy were reported killed by air strikes, artillery and ground troops after a Red detachment was spotted moving across open ground.

They were caught only about three miles from the point where B52 Stratofortresses, in a raid on a suspected Communist concentration Tuesday, dumped nearly half their 112 tons of bombs outside the target area.

A U.S. Air Force spokesman said the straying bombs killed from 42 to 44 persons and wounded from 57 to 59.

78 Rounds At Khe Sanh

North Vietnamese troops ringing Khe Sanh, the U.S. Marine combat base in northwest South Vietnam, fired a heavy mortar barrage Thursday, killing 12 Leathernecks and wounding 107.

American pilots and artillerymen responded with heavy counterfire. B52 bombers made three more raids in the aerial campaign around Khe Sanh.

The Marine command there was advised by higher headquarters that the Red regulars could possibly be supported by their own bomber aircraft. North Vietnam is known to have a half-dozen Russian twin-jet IL28s, called Beagles.

Over North Vietnam, U.S. fighter-bombers hit Thursday at Kien An airfield, six miles southwest of Haiphong, and the Kep air base, 38 miles northeast of Hanoi.

Spokesmen said an Air Force F105 Thunderchief and a Navy F8 Crusader were shot down in Wednesday's raids. Both pilots are missing.

In its weekly summary, the U.S. command announced 400 U.S. servicemen were killed and 1,494 wounded in combat last week.

Down

This was a decline in each case from the record highs of the previous week—416 dead and 2,757 wounded—but still greater than in any earlier seven-day period in the war.

No casualty figures were available for the last week for either the enemy or South Vietnam's armed forces. The other foreign allies reported 70 dead and 92 wounded.

American losses in combat since 1961 rose to 17,696 dead and 109,922 wounded and about 1,000 missing or captured.

Fight Fiercest Since Summer

. . . COMBAT COVERS 60 MILES

By The Associated Press

Israeli jet fighter-bombers roared along the Jordan River truce line, bombing and strafing Jordanian positions for seven hours Thursday night, before a cease-fire ended the fiercest fighting in the Middle East since the six-day war in June.

Kol Israel, the Tel Aviv radio, said fighting stopped after Jordan requested a cease-fire at 11 p.m.

A Jordanian military spokesman announced later that Israeli firing halted at 11:20 p.m.

Everything Used

At the fighting's height, an Israeli spokesman said: "Both sides are using everything they have."

The Jordanians said the Israelis directed air and artillery at 20 areas, including the Allenby and Damiyah bridges and the Karameh refugee camp.

The truce followed an emergency session of the Arab kingdom's supreme defense council and a call over Amman radio for blood donations. Authoritative Israeli sources said the Jordanians suffered "heavy" losses in bombing and rocket attacks on 19 separate targets.

Sabotage Said Up

The intense air strikes fitted into a background of Israeli claims of stepped-up Arab sabotage raids across the Jordan River truce boundary and repeated warnings that they be stopped.

Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan later told the nation in a broadcast he hoped the fighting would "teach Jordan that a cease-fire is a cease-fire and it applies to both Israel and Jordan."

Dayan Thursday cancelled a scheduled trip to the United States because of the outbreak.

If the outbreak did not bring quiet to the area, "we have even more drastic ways of dealing with the situation," the Israeli chief of staff, Maj. Gen. Haim Bar-Lev, told reporters in Tel Aviv.

Jericho Fired On

Combat spread over a 60-mile area from the Sea of Galilee south to Jericho. The ancient biblical city, spared during the June war, came under Jordanian fire at nightfall, a Tel Aviv communique reported.

Dayan and Bar-Lev were caught on an inspection trip to the Gesher kibbutz in the area during the shelling, but scrambled for cover and were not injured, sources said.

Aircraft Disputed

Jordan claimed its anti-aircraft batteries shot down six Israeli jets, but the air force in Tel Aviv denied this.

A Jordanian army spokesman said 18 Jordanians were killed, including 13 civilians and 58 injured.

Israeli spokesmen said four Israeli soldiers and one civilian were wounded.

Accused Of Shelling

The Jordanians accused the Israelis in turn of shelling populated areas. A communique said Israeli artillery units blasted the Karameh refuged camp while jets dropped flares and phosphorus bombs.

A series of clashes during the week preceded Thursday's full-scale battles.

At the United Nations, each side accused the other of shelling populated areas.

NU Computer To Feature Remote Access System

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

Researchers at the University of Nebraska soon will be able to enter programs and data on the school's computer as well as receive information from it while sitting in their offices, laboratories or even classrooms.

The new system of providing remote access to the NU computer by means of television-keyboard terminals operating simultaneously was developed in the Institute of Computational Sciences under the supervision of Director Dr. Don Nelson.

Although terminals can be used to transmit information at the same time, the data is actually programmed according to a priority system.

Added Immediately

Almost as many terminals as the university can afford, in groups of eight or less, could be added immediately, reported Asst. Director Roy Hallquist.

The computing center staff also designed the unique priority system which allows terminal users to interrupt the normal stream of work handled by the computer.

Generally, Hallquist explained, programs which can be run in a short time and use the smallest amount of the electronic brain's memory are given high priority.

Best Of Advantages

"Having remote access via the terminal combines the best of the advantages of two previous systems available to us: batch processing and remote access systems," said Prof. Kenneth Smith, academic director of the institute and co-developer of the system.

"In the former case, researchers waited hours and sometimes days for results. In the latter, they had to dedicate an entire computer just to remote terminals.

"Using our system, we now continue running batches of work while making the computer available on priority call to the terminals. And, so far as we know, this is the first remote job control system in a multiprogramming environment," Smith noted.

Waits Its Turn

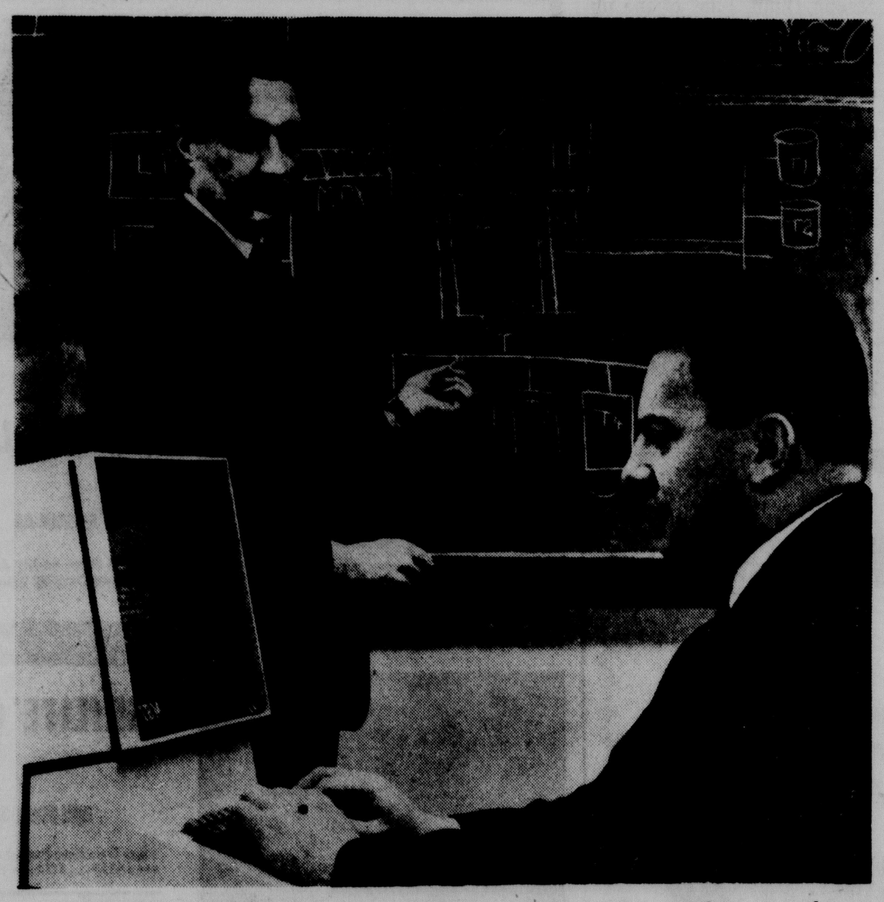
Even though a researcher may not have a high priority number that will program his data on the computer immediately, he can go ahead and transmit the information via the terminal. Then it waits its turn for actual computer time.

The computer operates so fast, however, that the wait for a terminal user will not be very long, according to Hallquist.

The terminals, like the Institute for Computational Sciences, will be used primarily for research. Physics, chemistry and engineering are the areas that will probably receive the next set of terminals, it was pointed out.

Terminals should be added in groups of eight for the greatest efficiency, the assistant director said. He explained that a control unit must be installed with the remote terminals. Each control unit can handle up to eight terminals.

Researchers will receive information on the television-type screen on the terminals. It would be possible to attach a printer to the terminals, Hallquist said, but print-outs of information required probably will be prepared at the computing center and forwarded to the researcher.



ENTERING PROBLEM . . . on terminal is Dr. Nelson, right, as Prof. Smith observes.

Demo Number Is FED UP 68

Washington (AP) — Switchboard operators at the Democratic National Committee headquarters were harassed Thursday by a flood of calls on one of a block of 20 telephone lines into the office.

The reason: The word has spread that if you dial FED UP 68 you are connected to the Democrats. More conventionally, the number is 333-8768.

"I don't think it's funny at all," said one operator at party headquarters. "As fast as they call in, I plug them out."

American Dies Helping Vietnam Federal Police

Lancaster, Pa. (AP)—Albert A. Farkas, former Lancaster police chief who resigned to work in Vietnam, has died of wounds suffered in the fighting there, relatives here reported Thursday.

Farkas, 54, resigned in December, 1966, after 26 years on the Lancaster force. He went to work in late 1966 as an adviser to the Vietnam federal police in Vihn Long province.

Farkas was wounded Feb. 10 by a sniper during fighting in the Dan Tan area of the Mekong Delta. He died Wednesday.

Veterans, Families, Friends Hear Tribute Paid To U.S. Fighting Men

By DAN DICKMEYER
Star Staff Writer

"It's up to you people here to keep a good government and build America," a Congressional Medal of Honor winner told a Pershing Auditorium audience who paid tribute Thursday night to Vietnam veterans and their families.

S. Sgt. Charles B. Morris, himself a veteran of the war in Vietnam, told the crowd that the returning veterans will be strong Americans and that "some of these anti-everything Americans are going to have a hard time when they meet up with your sons."

"I am a professional soldier; I do not claim to be anything else," the decorated veteran said. But he described the Vietnam soldier as "the boy who may have mowed your lawn last summer," although "he's a man — a big man."

'Not A Hero'

"I'm not a hero," Morris added. "I was just doing my job. The kids are the brave ones."

The program, sponsored by the Gateway Sertoma Club and held in conjunction with the club's observance of International Sertoma Freedom Week, was "an attempt to generate home front gratitude for the men in Vietnam," Club Chairman Jack Hart said.

Vietnam veterans, their friends, wives, children and parents filled the main floor of the auditorium to hear Morris, Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann, Rep. Robert V. Denney and James R. Burchfield, Sertoma International president, pay tribute to the American fighting men in Vietnam.

War Part of Life

Gov. Tiemann said, "It seems as though in this era of our history war is a part of our way of life."

"The auditorium tonight should be packed to overflowing with our citizens," he said.

There were about 500 spectators in addition to the invited guests.

Rep. Denney told the group that as a father, a citizen and a representative in Congress he was "proud to pay tribute to the war veterans."

Real Americans

"Nebraska is where the real Americans are grown," Denney said. He denounced the Pentagon demonstration and the protestors whom he called "misguided."

Burchfield said that Americans cannot compromise their principles in the Vietnam war.

"We have to win this war," he said.

"America's final exam may be coming. We have to count on the men we are honoring here tonight," Burchfield said.

The Cadence Countesses and Pershing Rifles drill teams from the University of Nebraska also took part in the program.

Swihart Quits As Assistant City Attorney

Fred J. Swihart, assistant city attorney and prosecutor, resigned effective Thursday.

He joined the city legal staff July 10, 1961, and was second in seniority to City Atty. Ralph Nelson.

Swihart, 1610 Susan Circle, said he notified Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf of his intentions Feb. 1, was asked by the mayor to reconsider, but decided Thursday he would not continue in his post with the city.

He said he is "probably going into private practice," but did not give reasons for his decision to quit city service.

Swihart is the sixth attorney to leave the city legal staff in about two years.

Marines Advance In Assault On Hue's Citadel

(C) New York Times News Service

Hue—American Marines advanced another 220 yards in their assault on the citadel of Hue, while armed helicopters and fighter bombers darted over the city's business district to fire at entrenched enemy forces. Machine-gun shell casings fell like rain on the hundreds of Vietnamese spectators watching the air action. (More on Page 1)

Greek Junta Determined

Athens—Greece's ruling junta, no longer forced to deal with King Constantine and moderate groups who wanted a rapid return to constitutional democracy, has dropped the emphasis on its transistory nature and has developed a determination to remain in power at all costs. One result is more independence in its foreign policy.

Rusk Scolds Fulbright

Washington—Sen. J. W. Fulbright's questions about possible use of nuclear weapons in Vietnam come under the category of "irresponsible discussion and speculation" that are "a disservice to the country," Secretary of State Dean Rusk said in a letter to the senator. (More on Page 2)

Pentagon Rebuffs Fulbright

Washington—Sen. J. W. Fulbright met a rebuff from the Pentagon in his request to declassify and make public a secret study that could bolster the senator's arguments against the course U.S. foreign policy has taken. The study "would be susceptible to misinterpretations and could produce serious repercussions abroad" if its conclusions were construed as future American policy, a Defense Department official said.

Vietnam Romney's Issue

Manchester, N.H.—Gov. George Romney, campaigning in New Hampshire, said the Vietnam war will be his major issue in the presidential primary. He called fellow Republican candidate Richard Nixon a me-too candidate on Vietnam.

Hanoi Silence Reported Firm

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — U.N. Secretary-General U Thant told U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg on Thursday night about his recent talks overseas on Vietnam, and Goldberg said the information was "very useful."

Goldberg paid a 1½ hour visit to Thant soon after the secretary-general's return from nine days' conversations in New Delhi, Moscow, London and Paris, including two meetings with North Vietnamese representatives.

North Vietnam's top diplomats in Asia and Europe had told Thant that North Vietnam is standing firm in rejecting President Johnson's terms for peace talks, well-informed sources said Thursday night.

Thant flew back to New York Thursday.

Informants reported that Mai Van Bo, head of North Vietnam's delegation to France, told Thant peace talks with the U.S. will begin "at an appropriate moment" after bombing of the North is unconditionally halted. Nguyen Hoa, Hanoi's consul general, was said to have told Thant negotiations would begin about two weeks after a bombing halt.

The meaning of both responses, as judged here, was that American initiatives based on President Johnson's San Antonio peace formula were unacceptable.

This response hardly surprised the British. But it seems to have left Prime Minister Harold Wilson as convinced as ever that "only a very narrow gap" separates Washington and Hanoi from meeting around a peace table.

Little Done To Smooth City Tension

World News

Washington (AP)—The President's Commission on Civil Disorders has found that many cities, including those hit hardest by violence last summer, have done little to ease tension, and commission members doubt that much can be done to prevent another summer of rioting.

A source close to the commission said Thursday that in many riot-torn communities visited by commission members the only change they found was even greater bitterness and hostility.

The same pessimistic view was expressed Monday by President Johnson.

Sen. Fred R. Harris, D-Okla., a member of the commission, said in a recent interview, "I would say the conditions in these urban ghettoes where riots have occurred in the past, and especially last summer, are not getting any better."

Katherine Graham Peden, former Kentucky commerce commissioner, said in an interview, "I have a feeling that the tone of the nation is one of a little more tranquility. I don't believe that we're going to be sitting on a powder keg that we saw in so many of our major cities last summer."

But a commission investigator who visited Detroit, where 41 persons died in a week of rioting last July, said he found little improvement.

OFF TO JAIL . . . go 35 Negro demonstrators on bus. School children watch.

Troopers Arrest Protesting Negroes

Social Circle, Ga. (AP)—Negro demonstrators, sprawling in front of buses to protest what they termed deplorable school conditions, were dragged from a street by helmeted state troopers Thursday and taken to jail.

Major Porter Weaver of the Georgia department of public safety said about 40 persons were booked at the Walton County jail at Monroe, 10 miles north of this small community.

Weaver said they were charged with refusing to obey a lawful order and obstructing traffic.

The protest centered around conditions at the Social Circle Training School, an all-Negro elementary school. They said their complaints include lack of substitute teachers, inadequate lunchroom facilities and overcrowded school buses.

After the arrests, a group of about 20 Negroes went to the Social Circle Public School—not involved in the protest—and attempted to enroll several Negroes. They were turned back by state troopers and S. W. Causey, the superintendent and principal of the city school.

Causey said the city school, integrated about two years ago, currently has about 65 Negroes in its enrollment of about 650 pupils.

"I told them that this was not the time to change schools," Causey said. "I told them they had the freedom of choice as to which school their child would attend last spring and they would have that same opportunity later."

Mondale Introduces Farm Bargaining Bill

New York Times Service

Washington—The first bill aimed at obtaining for farmers the same bargaining power enjoyed by organized labor was introduced in Congress Thursday by Sen. Walter F. Mondale, D-Minn.

It comes at a time when the administration is searching for ways to placate restless farmers beset with sagging farm prices and rising costs in a presidential election year.

Two separate programs would be authorized by the bill.

One would include a "National Agricultural Relations Board" to supervise farmer bargaining committees which would negotiate with processors for minimum prices and other terms of contracts covering farm commodities.

The other program would extend federal marketing agreements to any farm product. These marketing orders carry a broad range of powers, including collective bargaining for minimum prices. Federal marketing orders at present are in use only in fruits, vegetables and nuts.

Mondale was joined by nine cosponsors, all from the Midwest and including Sen. Mike Mansfield of Montana, the Senate Democratic leader.

Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, promised early and extensive hearings on the bill. However, no action is expected this year. The hearings will set the stage for extensive debate early next year when existing farm programs come up for renewal. The outcome of the elections this fall would have great influence on the farm fight next year.

Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman agreed with Mondale that the new bill should not be a replacement for present farm production control and price support programs.

What is needed, Freeman said Thursday in Des Moines, Iowa, is "a program to supplement—not replace—existing commodity programs."

Fulbright Is Opposed To Use Of Nuclear Arms In Vietnam

Washington (AP) Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., said Thursday it would be a national disaster if American troops in Vietnam are placed in such danger "as to require nuclear weapons to prevent their destruction."

"I believe some other alternative for protecting our troops should be found," Fulbright said.

Fulbright, chairman of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, rejected a suggestion by Secretary of State Dean Rusk that "irresponsible discussion and speculation" about the use of nuclear weapons is a disservice to the country.

Fulbright said Gen. Earle G. Wheeler, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, had left the impression that nuclear weapons would be used if needed to defend Khe Sanh.

The senator's comment followed release by the State Department of Rusk's reply to a letter in which Fulbright asked whether tactical nuclear weapons have been or will be used in Vietnam.

Rusk quoted a White House aide as saying President Johnson "has considered no decision of this nature."

Industrial Output Falls In January

Washington (AP) — The nation's industrial output declined during January after three straight monthly advances, the Federal Reserve Board reported Thursday.

The board said its index of industrial production dropped to 161.2% of the 1957-59 average, down six-tenths of a point from the December record.

Search For Pilot Ends In Failure

Washington (UPI)—The Defense Department Thursday called off the search for Lt. Joseph Dunn, pilot of the unarmed Navy dive bomber shot down over the Gulf of Tonkin Tuesday by a Communist Chinese jet fighter.

Dunn, 27, was listed as missing.

Dunn is a native of Hull, Mass. His wife and infant son reside in Randolph, a Boston suburb.

The Pentagon announced Wednesday that Dunn's propeller-driven A1 Skyraider was attacked while it and another A1 strayed within five miles of China's Hainan Island. The Chinese claim a 12-mile territorial limit.

Sympathy Marches Flare Up

Durham, N.C. (AP) — A sympathy march for the three yound Negroes killed a week ago in Orangeburg, S.C., erupted into window smashing and rock throwing by Negro college students in downtown Durham Thursday night.

What started as a peaceful march was one of several sympathy demonstrations that occurred in North Carolina, South Carolina and Virginia near predominantly Negro colleges. All the others were peaceful.

An effigy burning of South Carolina Gov. Robert McNair highlighted many of the demonstrations. Negroes in Greensboro and Charlotte chanted, "burn, baby, burn" during the effigy hanging.

It was McNair who sent South Carolina National Guard troops to Orangeburg to quell student demonstrations.

Labor Leaders Decry Public Workers' Status

Miami Beach, Fla. (AP) — Millions of public workers ranging from garbage men to school teachers are at the mercy of "bungling bureaucrats" and "antilabor" politicians because of punitive state labor laws, union leaders charged Thursday.

"In cities and states across the nation, tensions between public officials and public employes are mounting at an alarming rate," said AFL-CIO leaders.

They cited as examples New York City's garbage men's dispute, another garbage collectors' strike in Memphis, Tenn., a recent nine-day strike of teachers in Montgomery County, Md., and a threatened Florida teachers' strike.

'Absolutely Appalling'

AFL-CIO Vice President Paul Hall described as "absolutely appalling" the New York garbage negotiations involving Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller and Mayor John V. Lindsay. Rockefeller and Lindsay are Republicans.

But "the Republicans do not have a claim to all the stupidity," Hall said.

"There is not a single state in the whole 50 where public employes have the right to strike," said Robert D. Bollard, legislative director of the American Federation of State County and Municipal Employes. "Every time we strike, we break the law."

VANCE HAS CONFIDENCE IN ALLIANCE

Washington (AP)—Special envoy Cyrus Vance reported to President Johnson Thursday night on his special mission to South Korea and declared he has "renewed confidence of the solidarity of our alliance."

Vance said there are no secret agreements with South Korea and no understandings beyond the language of a joint communique issued by South Korean President Chung Hee Park and himself.

The communique noted that extraordinary measures were being taken to strengthen South Korean and American forces to make them ready to deal with any contingency which might arise.

Kiburz: LPPD Intends To Reorganize Board

. . . IN COMPLIANCE WITH 1967 LB106

Columbus (UPI)—The Loup Public Power District Thursday said it has plans to reorganize the board of directors of the district in the four-county area it now serves.

That announcement came from Loup General Manager Max E. Kiburz, following a statement by State Sen. Harold Stryker of Rising City Wednesday, that if Loup and Platte Valley Power Districts have not reorganized by July 21, he would file a petition with the department of water resources.

Stryker said the Loup River and Platte Valley Public Power districts are "playing footsie" with a 1967 law requiring them either to merge their operations or spread their boards of directors over the entire areas they serve.

He said he would file his petition if Loup and Platte have not either merged their districts into a district with areawide representation, or have spread their boards of directors as individual power districts.

Stryker, a member of the Legislature's Power Committee, said the agencies have

Nebraska News

"indicated they are not taking the new law too seriously and this is too bad. I want to go on record as saying I will file the necessary petition."

Applies To All Districts

In referring to LB106 which requires that all power districts in the state comply with areawide board representation, the senator Thursday was asked why he had specifically indicated that he would petition against Platte and Loup districts, and if the law then did not also apply to all other districts. He acknowledged that it does apply to all power districts in the state.

The Loup general manager said the Loup district had testified before the public works committee of the Legislature and had indicated the district's desire to spread its board in compliance with that 1967 law passed by the Legislature.

"Since that time," Kiburz said, "the Loup district had made two official proposals to the Cornhusker Rural Public Power District, headquartered here, for a merger of the two districts in compliance with the legislature's intent thus effecting a reorganization of both boards of directors over the area both serve."

Kiburz said the Loup District had in fact agreed to spread its board of directors over the four-county area the district serves while the 1967 Legislature was still in session, and that plans had been under way since that time to effect such a reorganization.

In the spring of 1967, the Loup and Consumers Public Power District agreed to a realignment of the two districts, with Loup operating solely in Nance, Boone, Colfax and Platte Counties. The Loup took over the CPPD properties in this area, and in return transferred its properties and partnership in the Nebraska Public Power System to Consumers.

FU 'Green Thumb' Will Aid Nebraska's Retired Farmers

By The Associated Press

A federally-financed "green thumb" project designed to give employment and supplementary income to elderly and low-income retired farmers has been extended to Nebraska, it was announced Thursday.

The White House in Washington announced that the National Farmers Union, under a contract with the Labor Department, will get $3.4 million to finance continuing such projects in Arkansas, Indiana, Minnesota, New Jersey, Oregon, Virginia and Wisconsin, and for new projects in Kentucky, Nebraska, New York, Oklahoma, Pennsylvania, South Dakota and Utah.

In Lincoln, state Farmers Union President Elton Berck said it's hoped that about 70 retired Nebraska farmers can be enrolled at the outset to meet what he said is a "desperate need in some instances."

The program is designed to benefit former farmers who were never trained for non-farm jobs but who are capable of "working with their hands," Berck said. They would be put to work at horticulturally-related projects such as roadside, city park and recreation area beautification, with a chance to earn up to $1,500 a year to supplement other income.

Nebraska participation will have to be approved by the governor, and specific projects will have to be approved by the National Farmers Union and the Labor Department.

Judge Accepts Adams County Redistrict Plan

Hastings (AP)—District Judge Norris Chadderdon of Holdrege Thursday accepted a redistricting plan for the Adams County Board of Supervisors.

The new plan sets up five city districts and two rural districts. The previous setup provided four city districts and three rural districts.

Judge Chadderdon on Feb. 6 ordered the board to redistrict. The ruling came on a suit filed by Mrs. Phyllis Haberman of Hastings, the wife of County Supervisor Rex Haberman.

24 Boys School 13, 14-Year-Olds Going To Geneva

Kearney (AP) — John McCarty, superintendent of the Boys Training School, said Thursday night that 24 13 and 14-year-old boys will be transferred to the Girls Training School at Geneva.

Previously boys up to 12 years of age had been sent to Geneva instead of the boys school.

He also reported that all staff members at the school are undergoing in-service training.

According to McCarty, the ban on inmate smoking put into effect Feb. 1 was met with much less rebellion than he had expected and said good co-operation from staff members is helping to enforce the ban.

Denney Favors U.S. Confronting Russia Without Fear Of Warnings

By GARY CLAXTON
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Ashland — Congressman Robert Denney Thursday recommended the United States confront Russia without fear of warnings or possible repercussions.

Denney appears here for the 14th meeting of his "regional office sessions" since taking office. Over a dozen persons attended the sessions at the Fire Hall. Denney also spoke to students at the senior high school.

"Every time America has stood up for what we know is right, they've (the Russians) backed down," Denney said in reply to a question at the high school.

"Whenever we show we're weak, they try immediately to do something more," he continued. He urged a completely dominant unbending line with the other nations of the world.

"I could be entirely wrong," he said. "It might start a general holocoaust. But frankly I think the confrontation is coming someday and I think we're in a better position today than we might be 10 years from now."

'Understand Force'

Speaking of the Asian nations, Denney said, "They only understand one thing. They understand force and they understand that if you have the ability to use it and show you will use it then they'll sit down and say 'Oh so sorry, let's talk about it.'"

Denney said he learned about the "Asian mind" while interrogating Japanese prisoners during WWII.

Denney said he felt the war in Vietnam could be ended if the United States blockaded Haiphong harbor, closed the Ho Chi Minh trail and cut off foreign aid to any nation that didn't believe as the United States does.

He recommended the formation of "regional compacts where the people of an area of the world that believe in a certain philosophy would agree among themselves that if somebody infringes on their rights the area would take care of it.

'Can't Police World'

"The United States has got to quit trying to police the world," he said. "We can not do it any longer. We no longer can afford to do it."

Denney criticized the United States for not taking direct action toward the return of the USS Pueblo, hijacked by North Korea.

"Everytime you let one of those little two-bit nations kick you in the teeth, you're going to have trouble," he said.

"I know, like many other people know," he said, "that there is always a battalion or more of Marines floating around out there in the Pacific.

"With the element of surprise, if they had gone in right after the ship was taken, they'd have turned it over and brought it right out," he said.

Denney also said the proposed surtax legislation would be defeated if brought to a vote now and probably would not come to a vote this year.

Central District Patrons Given Information On School Issue

Ceresco—A series of informational meetings are being conducted in the Central School District this week concerning the district's upcoming $995,000 school bond election scheduled Feb. 27.

The proposal was defeated by 36 votes in a special election last July.

Cecil A. Martin of Omaha, architect for the proposed school, has pointed out to patrons that construction costs have risen by some 5% since last summer and this will probably mean elimination of purchase of an adjoining tract for expansion, football practice field and some surfaced parking area.

There is no end in sight to the inflationary trends, fiscal agent C. W. Poore of Omaha disclosed to the patrons.

Mullins estimated that the school district would receive about $60,000 in state aid next year, about the amount needed annually to retire the bonds.

If the proposal is approved, the funds will be used for development of the deactivated Nike missile site east of Agnew. The site is about 6½ miles from Valparaiso, Raymond and Ceresco, towns included in the Central School District.

Existing buildings at the Agnew site would be converted for use as classroom and library facilities and a food service building. A new structure would house a combination auditorium - gymnasium and additional classrooms. A new football field would also be constructed.

A Friday night informational meeting at Ceresco will follow previous meetings held at Raymond and Valparaiso.

Beckham Questioned 6 Hours By Grand Jury

New Orleans (UPI) — A grand jury questioned Omaha, Neb., gospel singer Thomas Beckham for six hours Thursday—one of the longest sessions of any witness since Dist. Atty. Jim Garrison started investigating the assassination of President Kennedy.

Meanwhile, Dist. Judge Edward Haggerty Jr., the presiding judge for the trial of Clay L. Shaw on charges of conspiring to assassinate Kennedy, said he might change his mind and bar the Ford Foundation from filming it.

Asst. Dist. Atty. James Alcock said Beckham answered all questions put to him by the Orleans parish (county) grand jury.

"Beckham was co-operative," Alcock said.

The curly-haired, 27-year-old western singer and evangelist emerged from the grand jury room with his yellow shirt collar open, his necktie hanging from his tie clasp and his sleeves rolled up.

He bolted across the corridor of the court room, refusing to speak to newsmen.

Associate Of Ferrie

Garrison has said that Beckham was an associate of the late David W. Ferrie.

Shaw, a 54-year-old New Orleans businessman, is awaiting trial on charge of conspiring to kill Kennedy with Ferrie, Lee Harvey Oswald, Jack Ruby and "others."

Judge Haggerty indicated he personally favored the plan to video tape the Shaw trial later this year.

Haggerty said a New Orleans television station had protested it would be unfair to allow only one organization to film it, however.

And the defense is wholly against it, Haggerty said.

The judge said it would be physically impossible and ethically wrong to allow commercial networks to film the trial. He said the Ford Foundation promised it would not attempt to make a profit from what would be a historic venture.

Jury selection for the case was scheduled to begin earlier this week, but a change of venue motion by Shaw's attorneys will postpone the trial until at least April.

$625 Contributed For Blair Family

Summary of Conditions

A large storm center, located over Newfoundland and extending west to central Canada, is slowly pulling cold air southeast into the western Great Lakes region and building high pressure over the state. This in turn is pushing a weak cold front southwestwards.

The cold front currently lies across northeastern Montana, southwestern North Dakota and north central to southeastern South Dakota and then from northwestern Iowa to east central Iowa. A small high center is locaetd over northeastern South Dakota. The front is expected to have moved a little farther southwest by Friday morning and by Saturday morning it is expected to be over northeastern Wyoming, southwestern Nebraska, northeastern Kansas and southern Missouri.

Skies will be partly cloudy through Saturday with no precipitation expected. Little change in temperature is expected through Friday, but temperatures will turn cooler Friday night and Saturday.

Extended Forecasts

NEBRASKA: Temperatures for the five-day period, Saturday through Wednesday, are forecast to average near normal. Normal highs range from 34 to 43 and normal lows are from 14 to 19. Continued cool temperatures are expected until Tuesday or Wednesday when temperatures will be warmer. Little or no precipitation is indicated.

KANSAS: For the five-day period, Saturday through Wednesday, temperatures are forecast to average near normal. Normal highs range from 43 to 48 and normal lows are from 17 in the northwest to 27 in the southeast. Colder temperatures are expected Sunday or Monday and warmer ones Tuesday or Wednesday. Precipitation is forecast to average about one-tenth inch, occurring as snow mostly in the southern portion about Sunday.

EVENTS

IN PERSPECTIVE

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

This column today could run pretty long — not necessarily because of its significance but because it will be interesting. And the interest all stems from an agate listing in The Star of Tuesday, February 13, of business conducted by the City Council.

It is business that didn't make a headline, didn't even rate a story of its own, but is important and interesting from a number of points of view. At one point in the listing, for instance, is an amendment to the health code that could affect a lot of boys and girls and adults.

It doesn't require you to take a bath at least once a week or anything so drastic as that. It relates to pigeons, a subject that has been of interest to the writer since his youthful days of raising these birds.

★

The amendment would classify pigeons as fowl and submit their keeping within the city to the same rules and regulations that govern chickens, ducks, geese, turkeys or guineas. It may have things in its favor but do we really need it?

It would mean 800 square feet of space for every 12 pigeons, for instance, when more than that can easily be kept in half that space. Fowls, which would include pigeons, could not be loose at large in any of the public ways of the city.

Could they, then, fly around in the skies overhead? To whom does the air space belong?

Nor could pigeons, if included under the ordinance as fowls, be kept nearer than 50 feet to any residence. This, presumably, includes the residence of the owner and would make it tough on many an amateur pigeon fancier.

The above is just a sampling of the agate listing news.

★

The listing includes a number of zoning regulation changes that would affect one interest or another. For instance, a change in I commercial zoned property to include retail sales of new and used cars would change Gotfredson Motor Co. from a non-conforming to a conforming use.

This wouldn't mean much to anyone else, but it would allow Gotfredson to do some of the things he wants to do and some which he is already doing simply because nobody is bothering to bother him.

When you look at these and a multitude of laws already on the books, you realize how far government could intrude into your life if it wanted to and how much misery your neighbor could heap upon you if it were his desire to do so.

If you have a swimming pool, for instance, you can't make too much noise or play music too loudly without violating the ordinance. If you went into the barbering business, you couldn't use a styptic pencil to treat a razor cut, even though most men use them in their own homes. Use of the same pencil on one customer after another, presumably, has some communicative health dangers.

★

Biggest news in the agate listings was a misprint. It referred to amendments to up-date the "Uniform Housing Code." The "Uniform Housing Code" refers to the city's minimum standards housing ordinance and even the little agate listing stirred up a hornet's nest.

Anti-housing standards interests are now dissecting the proposed charges, to be made in the city's comprehensive building code, not the housing code. The effort is to bring the building code, which applies to new construction and to remodeling and renovations under some conditions, up to date.

Technology has not bypassed the construction industry and the city which fails to keep its code abreast of the latest changes does a disservice to its citizens and its construction industry.

But it is a good bet that the changes will be attacked just the same, as an underhanded attempt to force upon the city "housing" requirements that were recently voted down in the electorate's decision on a minimum standards housing ordinance. If the public goes along with the possible misunderstanding and probable misrepresentation inherent in this issue, Lincoln could return to the horse-and-buggy days.

The agate listing may be small but never dull.

The Mayor Said To The Governor

WASHINGTON—Two specters haunted New York last week: plague and Calvin Coolidge.

Gov. Nelson Rockefeller gave priority to the plague by making a deal wth the striking sanitation workers who let the city collapse into a fire-ridden garbage dump. His potential presidential rival, Mayor John Lindsay, took the old Coolidgean role of defender of the public safety.

Coolidge, as governor of Massachusetts, broke the Boston police strike of 1919, his only really memorable act, and it landed him in the White House.

Lindsay and Rockefeller were both right, but the mayor was more right than the governor. Inside reports of their negotiations show that the mayor took the long view and at the same time offered a practical plan of action. Rockefeller panicked.

☆ ☆ ☆

Rockefeller is in the position of denying the Coolidge role to Lindsay, which politicians would find defensible, and his solution ran into immediate trouble in the New York legislature, so it is questionable whether it can succeed.

At the same time he has shattered the bridges he has been assiduously building with Republican leaders over the country who are bone-sick of extremism. He has gained only labor allies, who are an uncertain asset and probably won't even stick in the clinches.

Mayor Lindsay may have been hurt, though he is getting all the best of it in the first reaction. He may not see it now, but his golden-boy image has been erased, and that is an asset. The sanitation workers have made a man of him.

☆ ☆ ☆

The story is far from over. With their usual parochialism, New York Democrats are insulting both governor and mayor, apparently totally blind to the larger implications.

Nor can President Johnson escape them. Demands will be made on him to take positions reflecting the issues involved.

Land Without Reason

It was correctly predicted here that Democrats would not welcome Secretary of State Frank Marsh's placing the name of former Gov. George Wallace on the Democratic party ticket for the May Nebraska primary election. The reaction was to be expected because Wallace has a philosophy alien to the Democratic party and is an avowed third-party candidate.

Marsh has at least played freely with the law that makes him the sole judge of who should go on the Nebraska ballot. His decision is not one of responsibility.

The Wallace candidacy is no joke. If he could manage to thwart our electoral system so that no major party candidate received a majority electoral college vote, then the presidency would be decided in the House of Representatives. In that politically heated atmosphere, Wallace obviously sees his chance to become the president of the United States.

It would be a strange union of states with Wallace at the helm. His philosophy is laced with the right of force as opposed to the right of reason.

When he speaks of states rights, he is talking about a condition of individual rights that is so perverted as to constitute anarchy. When he speaks of international affairs, he speaks from the point of view of military power rather than responsibility and compassion.

With Wallace in command, chaos would be the likely end of the road for us. His candidacy is no laughing matter and his name on the Democratic ballot, if it stays there, will be an issue not soon forgotten.

Author Smells Trouble

"The world may not end with a bang or a whimper but with a bad smell."

That's the central point of a new book by George R. Stewart. The book, "Not So Rich As You Think," outlines the problem man is creating for himself with garbage.

We are burying ourselves in it. Each citizen of the U.S. produces 1,600 pounds of solid waste material a year. As the author points out, it has to go somewhere. Even our present approach of sweeping it under the rug costs $2.5 billion a year. And when we're done, it still exists — in lakes and rivers, in smoky dumps which poison the air.

"Having pressed the lever on the toilet, dumped the garbage into the can, or thrown the beer can from the rear window, he considers that act to be the end of personal responsibility," Stewart says as he documents his case that man is one of the dirtier animals. It is to the point, he says, where we'd rather throw something away than repair it — including furniture, TV sets, and even cars. Our technology creates more and more products and our environment and our habits remain the same: we toss the can out the rear window.

The problem goes far beyond that of simple litterbugging. We are in the process of turning the "earth's waters into a cesspool, its air into a depository for poisons and the good earth itself into a dump heap."

Stewart sees some hope through education, scientific research and political and administrative reorganization. But we can't solve the population explosion, end juvenile delinquency, find world peace, etc., etc., etc. if we have to crawl through the trash in our search for acceptable answers.

Garbage, it turns out, isn't a problem for New Yorkers alone.

Auto Makers' Boycott Against Government Brings Investigation On Jacked-Up Costs

WASHINGTON — An unpublished boycott on selling cars to the United States government, by Ford, General Motors and Chrysler, is scheduled for investigation by Sen. Abe Ribicoff, D-Conn., today.

The undeclared but nevertheless effective boycott was revealed two weeks ago, in Ribicoff's investigation of new automobile safety standards and how much they cost the automobile buyer. Much to the amazement of senators, the General Services Administration, big buying and housekeeping agency for Uncle Sam, revealed that neither General Motors, Ford nor Chrysler had submitted bids on any government cars last year.

Had it not been for American Motors, which did bid, the United States government would not have been able to buy cars for either its critical or routine operations.

Reason the Big Three didn't want to bid for what hitherto has been considered the juiciest sale in the United States was that they didn't want to disclose detailed facts regarding safety which General Services now asks for. By not bidding, the Big Three wanted to force GSA to drop its safety standard demands. This has already been accomplished to some degree.

"Do you mean the United States government is at the mercy of a monopoly industry?" asked Sen. Ribicoff.

"Yes, sir," replied Heinz Abersfeller, chief of GSA's Federal Supply Service.

Sen. Ribicoff has introduced a bill requiring automobile companies to itemize the cost of new safety features on cars they sell to the government. Last fall the automobile companies upped prices and attributed the increase to new safety additions required by the government. Sen. Warren Magnuson, D-Wash., blasting the auto industry, pointed out that it had charged $23 to $33 for a pair of shoulder harnesses which cost the manufacturer only $3.

Sen. Ribicoff, also critical, and backed by Sen. Robert Kennedy, D-N.Y., now proposes to find out exactly how much safety additions to cars did cost and how much should be passed on to the auto buyer.

☆ ☆ ☆

Already, General Services has bowed to the Big Three's pressure and modified its safety standards program. GSA also opposes the Ribicoff bill for fear the Big Three will continue their ban on selling cars to the government.

But the auto industry is not satisfied. It wants GSA to go further and drop its tire safety standards, which are much tougher than the weak Department of Transportation standards for tires.

The senators are interested in the fact that the Big Three motor moguls, while refusing to bid on civilian vehicles, are waxing fat on government military contracts. They also receive handsome contributions of cash for research and development. General Motors had defense contracts in 1967 totaling $625 million; Ford got $87.4 million; Chrysler $164.7 million.

In addition the three got outright gifts for research totaling $53,166,000 for General Motors, $2,989,000 for Chrysler, and $5,099,000 for Ford. They can keep many of the patents developed from this research.

☆ ☆ ☆

Finally, the senators are interested in antitrust angles which may be involved.

General Motors appears to lead a charmed life as far as anti-trust prosecution is concerned. The big case brought against it in the Truman administration has now been compromised. The criminal aspects were dropped and the civil phase was kissed off with a consent decree.

More recently, antitrust lawyers have prepared a tentative case against GM for monopolistic practices in its relations with dealers. Some antitrust attorneys urge the Justice Department to force GM to sell Chevrolet, on the ground that Chevys dominate the market. So far no final decision has been made by Attorney General Ramsey Clark as to whether such a suit will be brought.

However, the industry obviously is worried. For the hearing room two weeks ago was jammed with auto and tire industry lobbyists who fear the consequences of Ribicoff's investigation.

Ernest Barcella of General Motors and Wayne Smithie of Ford are hopeful that Sen. Jack Javits, R-N.Y., will help defend the industry at today's session. They are not sure of Javits. But they know they can count on Sen. Clifford Hansen, R-Wyo.

At the last hearing they had the Automobile Manufacturers Association, headed by LBJ's old Texas friend, ex-Ambassador Thomas Mann, prepare neatly typed questions for Sen. Hansen. Hansen performed beautifully, asked the right questions of the leading witnesses, Sen. Walter Mondale and Lowell Bridwell of the Transportation Department.

Mondale has been a vigorous critic of the padded prices charged by the industry for safety devices. He agrees with Ribicoff that the industry is trying to make safety devices unpopular with the public by making them expensive.

Bridwell, who aspires to be governor of Ohio and is supposed to protect the public regarding auto safety, was vague and evasive. He dodged questions, refused to say anything about the auto industry He even refused to say that the cost of $23 to $33 to the public for one pair of shoulder harnesses was excessive.

GOP Seeks House Majority

WASHINGTON — While the bright lights are focused on the presidency and the challenge to the Democrat in the White House, tough-minded realists are concentrating on another power center. Rep. Melvin Laird, the shrewd boss of the House Republican conference, wants a candidate at the head of the ticket in November who will be most likely to bring in a House Republican majority.

A recent Congressional Quarterly poll showed that 53 per cent of the 187 Republican representatives favored Gov. Nelson Rockefeller over the other candidates. That, of course, was before Rockefeller's troubles with the garbagemen's strike in New York City and the angry charge he surrendered to the union and left Mayor John V. Lindsay in an impossible plight.

Laird is convinced that in his own state of Wisconsin, Richard M. Nixon will win in the primary over George Romney. Winning in New Hampshire and Wisconsin and then in Nebraska and Oregon, Nixon will inevitably be the GOP choice at the Miami Beach convention. He already has strong ties of loyalty with many House Republicans grateful for his campaigning in district after district in 1966 and for the money he helped to raise where the outlook was close and last-minute television time counted heavily. Nixon is given high marks in scoring the Republican gain of 47 seats.

If one thing seems uncertain in this year of grim uncertainties, it is for a hair-line presidential contest. And the glittering prospect now being cherished by Laird and his lieutenants is that even if Johnson should be re-elected by a narrow majority, the House nevertheless could go Republican. The voters would stay with a wartime president but take out their frustration and revenge on Congress.

Laird was recently described by the liberal National Committee for an Effective Congress as "the steely and shrewd politician who . . . stands at the center of the largest conservative apparatus" in the contemporary scene. The veterans in the Laird apparatus would control the levers of power in a House with a Republican majority.

They have all moved up the escalator of seniority, bringing with them in most instances the conservative outlook, the prejudices and pre-conceptions of small-town and rural America. They would take over powerful committee chairmanships, replacing Southern Democrats whose views on the evils of big government and the encroachments of the welfare state they share.

☆ ☆ ☆

Leslie Arends, first elected in 1934 and elevated to Republican whip in 1943, is the No. 2 Republican on the House Armed Services Committee. He has a cozy relationship with Chairman L. Mendel Rivers of South Carolina. When it comes to pressure for defense installations and contracts, the Republicans do about as well as the Democrats.

On the key Ways and Means Committee, the ranking Republican, John W. Byrnes of Wisconsin, can match Chairman Wilbur Mills of Arkansas in his zeal for government economy and budget-cutting. First elected to the House in 1944 from Green Bay, he was formerly chairman of the Republican Policy Committee. The current chairman is another conservative, Rep. John J. Rhodes of Arizona.

On the Public Works Committee, which has goodies to allocate in the form of dams and highways, Rep. William C. Cramer of Florida is ranking Republican. He is rated an ultra-conservative. Rep. John M. Askbrook of Ohio has set himself the task as chairman of the right-wing American Conservative Union of whipping Republican colleagues in line when from time to time they give the Democrats a margin of victory essential because of Southern Democrat defections.

Laird as No. 3 on the Appropriations Committee knows probably as much as any House member about the complexities of the budget and government spending. He is chairman of the Subcommittee on Health, Education and Welfare and Labor and No. 2 Republican on defense appropriations. This gives him leverage in key areas of great political sensitivity.

With the Republicans having a majority in the House, the present minority leader, Gerald Ford, would become speaker. Laird would then be shepherd of the majority and a most-efficient and effective shepherd. It would be the culmination of careful, ambitious planning over the years.

But what would the consequences be in government programs with a Democratic president and a Republican House? The gloomy prophets believe it would mean stalemate, the worst-of-all-possible worlds under the American system of divided powers; and stalemate at a time of upheaval at home and abroad when stalemate can be disastrous.

Finding A Way

Lincoln, Neb.

I generally find your comments on local issues to be quite reasonable, but you have crossed the Missouri River again with your opinions and, as frequently happens, come back with egg on your face.

I don't care to comment on your ideas of how Lincolnites would react to a strike of sanitation workers, but the thought of the Park Avenue matron descending in the elevator from her posh apartment carrying the garbage, entering her chauffeur-driven Cadillac, and heading for the New York City dump (wherever that is) is too much to contemplate.

Seriously, though, you have underestimated the initiative of New Yorkers. According to the reports I have read, the neat piles of boxes containing garbage from the fancy buildings around Central Park somehow quietly disappeared during the night. In the substandard areas like East 119th Street, they used less sophisticated but effective ways. Most of the residents don't have operating automobiles to carry the stuff away, but each evening in one neighborhood, an abandoned car bursting with refuse was wheeled to the middle of the street and burned.

When asked why the fires are set, a 24-year-old tough street kid who now works for the City Youth Board answered with a smile: "Because they stopped taking the garbage and somethin' gotta be done with it. So they burn it."

The big city may not be Lincoln, but people find a way to take care of their problems.

What is the future of the USS Pueblo and its 83-man crew? Are we going to mess around and do as we did before and say, "As long as we get our men back, we'll give you the ship." Isn't it about time we quit this "nicey-nice" bit and show a little aggression instead of letting a little country push us around?

Could January 23, 1968, be described as the fall of the U.S. as a world power? If a 10th-rate power can push us around, what could a first-rate power do? We must enforce our rights on the high seas, we must stop our pussy-footing around and get the job done.

Sunday I heard a very good sermon on Christians living as Christians should live, practicing the Golden Rule and following the old adage of "Live and let live."

My mother taught me never to ask someone else to do a job I wouldn't do myself, or to act as if people who have to work for a living by the sweat of their brows were slaves.

Christians should live so that people will recognize them as such.

Uniform Building Code Changes Before Council

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

Amendments to the city's Uniform Building Code aimed at bringing the document "up to 1968 standards" will be on final reading and public hearing before the City Council Monday.

City Superintendent of Building Inspection Charles Seale said the changes will involve the recognition of fire detection systems in allowing an increase in building space and a relaxation of light, ventilation and ceiling height requirements.

"The (updating) ordinance reflects the latest information and technical data related to construction that is available at this time," Seale said.

Amendments

The City Council in January, 1966, adopted the 1964 edition of the Uniform Building Code and added some technical amendments particularly suited to Lincoln, such as increasing the snow load factor for roofs and eliminating earthquake design requirements.

The International Conference of Building Officials, of which Lincoln is an active Class A member, adopted a new edition of the code last year and the City Building Code Advisory Committee began a review last May of the proposed changes incorporated in the model code.

Seale subsequently represented Lincoln at the conference's annual meeting in September, at which time the proposed changes in the 1967 edition were voted on.

Back Some

He said the advisory committee is recommending that the council adopt some of the changes approved by the conference and some others that were shelved for further study by the conference.

"We gleaned out of the proposals our acceptance of what will make this truly a 1968 code for Lincoln," Seale said, noting that the code should be updated periodically as there are technological advances in materials and methods of construction.

Seale emphasized that the Uniform Building Code has no connection with the city's housing code, which was passed in 1956, or the proposed minimum housing standards code, which was defeated by voters at a referendum election last November.

Not Housing Code

The Star erred Tuesday in reporting that on the council's agenda was an ordinance on second reading relating to "updating the Uniform Housing Code," when, in fact, it is the Uniform Building Code that is under consideration.

Seale explained that the Uniform Building Code, 1964 edition, applies to all buildings and structures in the city, whether new construction, additions or alterations. Compliance with the code is necessary if a building permit is to be issued by the city.

The code also provides a measure for compliance with its provisions. The percentage of the cost of the alteration or addition compared with the assessed valuation of the existing structure determines whether the entire structure must comply with the building code when changes are made.

Example

For example, alteration or enlargement of a building located in certain fire zones costing 50% of the value of the building would require that the whole building be brought up to current standards.

The defeated minimum housing standards code applied to dwellings only and provided for systematic inspections to see that the dwelling units complied with minimum health, safety and structural standards.

He pointed out that the present city housing code, adopted in 1956, applies only to dwelling units built since that time, with enforcement authority vested in the health department.

All Forms

The building code applies to all forms of construction, not just dwelling units.

Seale said the amending ordinance up for final council action Monday contains some "minor adjustments," plus the following significant changes:

—Commercial buildings, hotels and large apartment houses in all areas except Fire Zone I (downtown) and Fire Zone II (adjacent to downtown and older commercial areas) would be allowed area increases when an approved automatic fire detection system is provided throughout. There is no such provision in the existing code.

"We will continue to allow area increases when an automatic extinguishing system is installed," Seale said.

Cut Windows

—The area of windows in dwelling units required for light and ventilation will be changed from ⅛th of the floor area to 1/10th of the floor area.

—Mechanical ventilation may be substituted in lieu of natural ventilation in habitable rooms, excluding rooms normally used for sleeping. Openable window space in sleeping rooms will still be required.

—Minimum ceiling height in habitable rooms in basements or cellars of single family dwellings will be lowered from the present seven feet, six inches to seven feet and corridors in such basements may have ceiling heights of not less than six feet, ten inches, instead of the seven feet, six inches now required.

MRS. W. C. MEIERHENRY

New 'YW' President Is Installed

Mrs. W. C. Meierhenry was announced as president of the Lincoln YWCA at the organization's 82nd annual meeting Thursday. She was elected by the board and succeeds Mrs. K. B. Clark.

Also elected were Mrs. J. Edmunds Miller, first vice president; Mrs. Evar L. Anderson, second vice president, and Mrs. Thomas C. Huxtable, third vice president.

Re-elected were Mrs. R. L. McCandless, secretary; Mrs. Earl Lampshire, treasurer, and Mrs. W. W. Woodward, assistant treasurer.

Newly-elected trustees were Mrs. Earl Carter, Mrs. David Walcott, and Alfred Adams. Re-elected were Ralph Tyler Sr., Lloyd J. Marti, Ernest L. Smith and Mrs. Don Stewart.

Board of director members re-elected were Mrs. Martin E. Burgess, Mrs. Huxtable and Mrs. Miller. Those elected were Mrs. Orin G. Peterson, Mrs. Joseph Adams, Mrs. Don S. Bergquist, Mrs. Vern D. Carey, Mrs. Ralph P. Cuca, Mrs. Gary Hill, Mrs. Vance G. James, Mrs. Russell F. Richmond, Mrs. Max L. Schuster, Mrs. Anderson and Mrs. George Brockley.

James Ackerman, attorney for the YWCA, said that after a 45-day wait, the YWCA will receive funds of $595,000 from the Woods Charitable Fund for the purchase of property at 1443-47 O St., 1439 O St., 1435 O St. and the Pershing Hotel at 119 S. 15th St.

He said that the YWCA board would meet on March 29 at the end of the 45-day period to complete the transaction, which involves the transfer of the YWCA's Annie Miller Residence Hall to the Woods Fund in exchange for the funds to purchase the property.

Greater Omaha Aid Application Conditionally OKd

By LUCILLE HOWARD
Star Staff Writer

Greater Omaha's application for federal assistance to study the feasibility of area-wide health planning received conditional endorsement from the Advisory Council on Comprehensive Health Planning here Thursday.

Approval of the application, which is expected to be considered by the State Board of Health Monday, was unanimous.

United Community Services of Omaha submitted the application for a $113,821 study of the comprehensive health planning capabilities for Douglas, Dodge, Washington and Sarpy Counties in Nebraska and Pottawattamie County in Iowa.

Sought From PHS

Seventy-five per cent of the project, $85,366, is being sought from the U.S. Public Health Service (PHS) under the Comprehensive Health Planning Act of 1966.

The request was the first to be made to the newly formed advisory group which oversees the Division of Comprehensive Health Planning in the Health Department as created by the 1967 Legislature.

John Carson directs the division, designed to coordinate the planning and implementation of all health services under a new federal-state planning concept.

Asked Modifications

Advisory Council members asked for six modifications in the United Community Services' (UCS) application before it is submitted to the Health Board. These involve clarification of proposed expenses for rent, recruitment and moving of hired personnel and contracted services, some elaboration on personnel qualifications and further definition of representation on and roles of the UCS board of directors and proposed advisory council.

Carson was authorized to check compliance with the council demands if UCS accepted the modifications.

Representatives of UCS, Mrs. Edith Winjy and Dr. Arnold Lempka, both of Omaha, indicated during discussion of the application that the intent of the program proposal generally agreed with the suggestions of the Advisory Council.

However, the two were not present to react to the specific modifications at the time they were spelled out.

According to the UCS application, the proposed organization within the Greater Omaha metropolitan area would develop a comprehensive health planning capability, "one which will serve to maintain and improve for all persons quality and efficient health care through the development of informational systems, to collectively and objectively define health needs, and to serve as a guide for implementation."

Among its objectives would be recruiting a professional staff to carry out the study, strengthen public awareness about comprehensive area health planning, document geographical boundaries for the conduct of such planning, assessing existing programs and related resources and prepare an application for funding to initially support the planning process.

An advisory council would be formed to work directly with the study project. Ten persons, primarily reflecting health interests, would be added to the UCS board of directors which has the final authority concerning the project.

Major Requirement

The state advisory council members emphasized that the addition of health persons to the UCS board and strong membership on the advisory council was a major requirement.

Criticism of the application included Creighton University professor Dr. Raymond Shaddy's objection that the narrative portions of the proposal did not relate to the budget. But he recommended against asking for a complete revision to expedite the application's chance to meet the March 1 PHS deadline.

The federal offices only receive applications three times during the year. Submission by March 1 would assure funding by July 1, if the proposal is approved.

Some advisory council members expressed dissatisfaction with action that might appear to be taken to meet the early deadline, noting that funds also would be available in the next few months.

Because the Omaha proposal is the first, "this one will set the precedent and we want it to be a model document," declared Frank Phelps of Grand Island.

Nuclear Lab Plan Backed By Governor

Gov. Norbert T. Tiemann said Thursday establishment of a medium-scale nuclear laboratory at the University of Nebraska could make Nebraska the food-processing center of the Midwest.

Atomic research experts from the Brookhaven National Laboratories in Long Island, N.Y., visited the campus last week to discuss the possibility of building the laboratory here. They concluded the project is feasible.

The laboratory would be used chiefly for preservation of fresh meat and poultry. The Atomic Energy Commission would finance most of the cost.

Tiemann said the laboratory would encourage the food industry to locate in Nebraska to avoid the added cost of shipping raw food materials to processing centers in the East.

"Nebraska could quite easily become the food processing center of the Midwest," he said. "It would be a tremendous impact on Nebraska's economy and would provide jobs for thousands of people."

The governor said he would ask the 1969 Legislature to set up a revolving fund within the State Economic Development Department to help finance the project.

POSTCARD by Stan Delaplane

In the early evening, you can go over to Chicote's on the Gran Via in Madrid and drink a little golden manzanilla wine and eat salted Spanish almonds.

The city looks good these days. Tourists and American air base payments have put muscle in the Spanish economy. When I first came to Madrid 18 years ago it was a sad country.

The shop windows were almost empty. The Guardia Civil — the state police in the black tricorn hats — walked the streets in pairs, tommy guns slung on their shoulders.

When you see police carring automatic weapons, you are looking on a country in trouble.

☆ ☆ ☆

Now the streets are lively at the night shopping hour. Madrid closes from one in the afternoon to four. After seven is a big shopping time.

The windows are full of radios and electric irons and clothing.

Chicote's, where the swinging set hangs out, is jammed.

The bull fight season in March will soon be with us. And Chicote's is where they talk about it.

"There was no one like the great Manolete," says the waiter mopping the marble table top.

He pours the golden manzanilla from Seville. And then goes out in the kitchen and hits himself with cooking sherry I believe.

Talking about Manolete sets up Spanish emotion. For he died in the moment of glory on the horns of a black Miura bull.

☆ ☆ ☆

The brave bull must be killed. That is the point of the man-and-bull ballet they act out on the sunstruck sand in the afternoon.

There are six bulls to the corrida or match. Three matadors. Two bulls for each. In the March season, the very best are in Madrid.

The bull fights go very big with American tourists. But they are all on the side of the bull.

The Spanish don't understand this at all.

Said the waiter in Chicote's: "It is bravery versus bravery. This is the whole point of it."

☆ ☆ ☆

The thing is the bull does not know whether he is brave or not. For he has never fought.

If a bull is tried out beforehand with a cape, he doesn't get brave. He just gets smart. He begins to forget the cape and go for the man.

For this reason, they do not test bulls. They test cows. They use the cape on the young heifers. If she charges well, she shows bravery. She is then bred, hopefully her ferocity will be inherited by her sons.

This doesn't always work. And I have seen bulls come into the ring and simply sit down after the first cape is shown.

When this happens, they run the coward out. He becomes hamburger.

☆ ☆ ☆

The waiter said there had been a scandal in the bull fighting business.

"They found some promoters were dropping sandbags on the bull before the fight," he said. "It slowed down the beast.

"Then there were others filed the tip of the horn. Painted it black so it did not show.

"When you file the horn tip, it is like filing a fingernail too close. It is sensitive. The bull feels that, and he is not so anxious to go in with the horns, no?"

☆ ☆ ☆

Some of the best bull fight people hang out in Chicote's. It's a famous place on the main street of Madrid.

It's also a hangout for a number of easy ladies. For this reason many Americans think it is a bad place. But like their feeling about bull fights, the Spanish look on these things differently.

Chicote was given the Order of Merit some years ago by Franco himself.

Tax Challengers Will Appeal To U.S. High Court

Challengers of the state income tax Thursday told the State Supreme Court they will definitely appeal their case to the U.S. Supreme Court.

The state high court ruled Dec. 22 that the tax law is constitutional. It rejected a rehearing request two days ago.

Plaintiffs in the suit are Philip C. Anderson and Raymond Weilage Jr., both of Crete; Jack L. Etherington and Charles E. Bray, both of Council Bluffs, Iowa; Robert M. Niquette of Lititz, Pa.; The Feed Service Corp. of Nebraska, and Morea Liquifeed Corp. of Illinois.

They maintain the law violates the federal constitution as regards collection and tax credit procedures. The state court said it does not.

Hardin: NU Concerned For People

... In Land Buying

Chancellor Clifford Hardin, saying the University of Nebraska's record shows a genuine concern for the people involved, Thursday announced he's setting up a committee to study the impact of NU land purchases east of the city campus.

The chancellor's announcement said the Graduate School of Social Work would be represented on the committee.

University officials also quoted a report from George Hancock, real estate negotiator for the university, saying all purchases east of the city campus have been made on a voluntary basis. Hancock said that in no case has the university initiated contact with any property owners.

Hancock said where residences had been owned by absentee landlords, purchases "have not been made until the landlords have assured the university that the tenants have access to other properties."

His report said that in 15 purchases of tenant-occupied houses, three tenants have not yet moved, five are known to have decided to move before knowing of an impending sale and the circumstances of the other seven tenants are not known.

The 15 were among 78 parcels of land in the area purchased in the last two years, including 31 vacant lots, 14 with vacant houses and 18 with owner-occupied houses.

Hancock said all owner-occupants had made their moving plans "before the university bought their properties."

Two Charged In Slaying Get Life Terms

. . . BYRD, CROOKS REFUSE TO DISCUSS WHITEHEAD DEATH

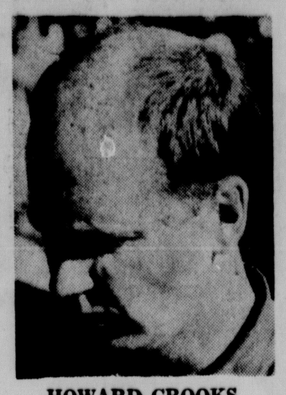
By GERRY SWITZER
Star Staff Writer

Two Indiana escapees were sentenced to life imprisonment by Lancaster District Judge Herbert Ronin Thursday in connection with the Aug. 10, 1967, shotgun slaying of a Lincoln Police detective.

The pair, James Howard Byrd, 27, and Howard Crooks, 38, originally charged with first-degree murder in connection with the shooting of Det. Paul Whitehead, pleaded guilty Jan. 16 to amended charges of second degree murder.

The complaints specifically charged each of them with purposely, maliciously, but without premeditation and deliberation, aiding and abetting another in the killing of Mr. Whitehead.

HOWARD BYRD



HOWARD CROOKS

No Statements

In sentencing them, Judge Ronin noted that neither had given statements concerning the incident to the probation officer in preparing the presentence investigation.

"I only have the benefit of information from the investigating officers and nothing from you," he said.

Prior to pronouncing sentence of Byrd, Judge Ronin asked the defendant if he cared to tell the court about the incident "at this time," to which Byrd replied, "No, sir."

No Details

"As I understand it you don't care to discuss any details of this offense," Judge Ronin said.

"That's correct," Byrd replied.

According to information from officers in the presentence investigation report, Judge Ronin said, "One of you three shot him (Mr. Whitehead) with a sawed-off shotgun . . . this doesn't give you the benefit of any statement you did make or could make."

In pleading for his client, attorney Richard Knudsen, appointed to represent Crooks, called to the court's attention the fact that Crooks had pleaded guilty for aiding and abetting and not for committing the actual crime.

Nothing To Say

When asked by the court if he had anything to say, Crook replied:

"I don't have anything to say about it and hope the court understands that I will hold no animosity toward the court."

Judge Ronin said, "The court recognizes you have the right to remain silent," to which Crooks answered, "I understand that."

Still Pending

First-degree murder charges are still pending against a third escapee companion, Arthur C. Murray, 33, who was with Crooks and Byrd at the time Mr. Whitehead was killed.

The trio escaped from the Indiana State Prison Aug. 3 by using a makeshift ladder and rope to scale the prison wall.

The gunfight between the trio and officers erupted when the escapees were stopped for routine check by Det. Whitehead and Det. Paul Merritt.

Attorneys File Claim For Work On Fugate Case

Lincoln Attorneys John McArthur and Merril Reller Thursday filed a claim for $7,500 in fees plus $632.51 in court costs in connection with their court-appointed representation of Caril Ann Fugate in post-conviction proceedings in Lancaster District Court.

In asking the court to approve the claim, the attorneys list various expenses incurred in preparing the case for the evidentiary hearing, trial time and costs.

Nomination Okayed

BOY HELPS HURT CAT

Mark Gilger, 5, of Shamokin, Pa., poses with a cat he is helping recover from a gunshot wound. The cat, here wearing front leg splints, was found near the Gilger home with a bullet wound through one leg, the chest and into the other leg. A vet removed the bullet and said the kitty will recover.

Suit Claims Land Damaged By Dam

Two Lancaster County couples filed a $16,824 damage suit in Lancaster District Court Thursday against the Salt Valley Watershed District, Salt Wahoo Watershed and Nebraska State Game Commission in connection with damage in construction of a dam.

The plaintiffs, Harold and Verna Deinert and Victor and Marie Deinert, contend that their land remaining from the original farm after the taking of land by the defendants, lies at much lower level than the surface of water on the impounded lake behind the earthen dam.

According to the petition, as a result of the level difference, water has seeped through soils of the dam and underneath and alongside the dam and made the lands of the plaintiffs a swamp and bog.

The plaintiffs allege that before the construction of the dam and impounding of waters above the plaintiffs' lands by defendant, the plaintiffs' lands were valuable agricultural lands.

They contend that as a result, the plaintiffs have suffered damages and loss of crops totaling $16,824.

State Still Has 1,033 One-Teacher Schools

The State Education Department reported Thursday 1,033 one-room schools in which a single teacher teaches all subjects in six, seven and eight different grades still exist in Nebraska.

These small elementary schools enroll 11,468 pupils, an average of 11.1 per teacher.

A look at the statistics, the department said, "prompts one to ask the question: How wasteful of precious teacher manpower can Nebraska afford to be?"

The department could take consolation in the fact the students attending one-room schools represent only about 5% of the 383,154 pupils in all Nebraska schools.

The one-room schools comprise the bulk of the 1,401 Class One or elementary school districts, which in turn account for a big share of the 1,744 operating school districts in the state.

Nebraska has more school districts than any other state.

Woman Charged With Drug Violation Put On Probation

Lancaster District Judge Herbert Ronin Thursday placed a Lincoln woman on probation for two years on a charge of obtaining a stimulant drug by misrepresentation.

Mrs. Shirley Loos, 39, of 3461 Dudley, had pleaded innocent to the charge Jan. 19 and changed her plea to nolo contendere and was found guilty Jan. 26.

Lincoln police arrested the woman after purchasing a prescription drug Nov. 24 from a local drug store by misrepresenting herself as a physician.

According to police, the pharmacist became suspicious since it was the third time within a month he had filled the prescription for the woman. He then called the physician to confirm the prescription and found the physician had not placed the order.

BIDDING QUIZ

You are South, both sides vulnerable. The bidding has been:

North	East	South	West
1♦	1♠	?

What would you bid now with each of the following five hands?

1. ♠93 ♥85 ♦AJ753 ♣KQ96
2. ♠72 ♥AKJ4 ♦Q3 ♣KJ942
3. ♠KJ94 ♥QJ6 ♦5 ♣AJ873
4. ♠KQ5 ♥AJ73 ♦Q84 ♣KJ8
5. ♠— ♥KJ965 ♦KQ92 ♣AJ76

1. Two clubs. The hand is too good for a raise to two diamonds, and not good enough for a jump raise to three diamonds (forcing). The best way of treating hands in between the single and double raise zones is to bid a side suit, with the intention of later raising partner's suit. Such a sequence is not forcing and permits partner to go on or stop, depending on his hand.

2. Two clubs. Here we intend to arrive at a game eventually, since we have an opening bid facing an opening bid, but the best final contract is at present uncertain. All we can do under the circumstances is plan to describe our high-card values and distribution as nearly as possible.

The first step in this direction is to bid the longer suit, clubs, intending to follow with a heart bid next. Partner will thus be apprised of our high-card values, since we will have bid twice, and at the same time he will learn that our clubs are longer than our hearts, since we would otherwise have bid hearts first.

3. Double. There is a good chance of collecting a fat penalty if partner has a normal opening bid. While it is true that the double is for business, partner is not required to stand for it if his values are primarily based on distribution.

Our hand is likely to take four or five tricks against a spade contract, and partner, if he passes, will normally show up with three or four more defensive tricks. The double is therefore likely to produce the best result, especially since we have no assurance that this is a game-going hand.

4. Three notrump. Game is certain and notrump is clearly the best denomination. The jump to three notrump shows 16 or 17 points as well as notrump distribution. At the same time, it encourages partner to try for a slam with appropriate values.

5. Two spades. The cuebid announces first-round control of the opponent's suit and at the same time professes keen interest in reaching a slam. Obviously, we have excellent prospects for a slam if partner has no wasted strength in spades, and the best time to convey this news to him is right now.

Trendwood South Hills Rosemont Park Manor in suburban areas

This was the week that was—in suburbia at least. Midweek was filled with birthdays, birthdays and more birthdays and a returning traveler. Also in the news is word of the Sherami Club meeting, houseguests and an address change. If all this sounds like too much socializing for mid-February, we'll tell you that suburban residents seem to think that spring is just a little early this year.

Trendwood resident Mrs. D. E. Wright was busy filling the role of hostess Tuesday evening when the members of her ladies' club met at her home. Calling themselves the Sherami Club, the ladies get together once a month for an evening of cards and chatting.

Weekend visitors were on the Park Manor social scene recently when Mr. and Mrs. Walter Van Deventer entertained members of Mrs. VanDeventer's family, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ondracek and daughters, Susan and Janet, from Omaha; and Miss Irene Church of Superior.

The news in Rosemont doesn't concern new faces but youthful residents who are celebrating their anniversaries. Birthdays were the order of the week at the Lorance H. Newburn, II, home where Miss Kristina and Miss Karen Newburn marked their fifth and second years, respectively. Wednesday, Kristina entertained her friends at a birthday luncheon at the Newburn home. Sixteen guests were present.

Both young ladies were honored Monday evening at a large family gathering—complete with cake, ice cream and candles for everyone.

Another young Rosemont resident was honored recently. Brand new Miss Amy Hutchins and her mother, Mrs. Tom G. Hutchins, were the guests of honor at a baby shower last Tuesday. Mrs. Hutchins' mother, Mrs. C. A. Garreans, and Mrs. Richard Taylor, were the hostesses for the evening affair held at the home of Mrs. Garreans.

A young lady who observed a Valentine's Day birthday was Jennifer Dam, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Dam. Jennifer, who was five years old Wednesday, was hostess to a group of neighborhood friends at a party that afternoon. Included on the guest list were Ricky, Randy, Danny and Debbie Rasmussen; Connie and Joey Strauss; Cathy Rooney; Lori Benson; and Kathy Rust.

Recently returning to Lincoln following a four-week vacation in Germany was Mrs. Keith Muenchau. Highlighting her trip were visits with friends in Frankfort, Munich and Berlin, including an excursion into the eastern sector of Berlin. Mrs. Muenchau also spent a week with friends and relatives in New York.

One of Lincoln's newest arrivals is receiving quite a bit of attention at the home of his parents Mr. and Mrs. David Karre. The young man we are referring to is Master Steven David Karre who made his appearance on January 30 at Bryan Memorial Hospital. Doing all they can to make sure that Steven feels welcome are his sisters, Karen, 3½, and Linda who is 1½.

Steven's arrival also was marked by a special visit to Lincoln last weekend by his grandparents Mr. and Mrs. Ray Shotkoski of Ord, and Mrs. Horace Karre of Greeley.

MISS BARBARA BORGENS

Lincoln and campus circles at Nebraska Wesleyan University will share interest this morning in the announcement made by Mr. and Mrs. Harry Borgens of the engagement of their daughter, Barbara, to M. Douglas Evans, son of Dr. and Mrs. Milton Evans.

Saturday, June 8, has been chosen for the wedding.

Miss Borgens is a senior at Nebraska Wesleyan University where she is a member of Alpha Gamma Delta sorority.

Mr. Evans is a graduate of Nebraska Wesleyan and is a member of Phi Kappa Tau fraternity. He attended Graduate School at Wake Forest College, Winston-Salem, N.C., and currently is completing his graduate work at the University of Nebraska.

MISS JUDY LAMBELET

Announcement is made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Lambelet of Grand Island, of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Judy, to Wayne Morton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Morton of Burchard.

The wedding will be an event of Saturday, April 13.

Miss Lambelet, the granddaughter of Mrs. M. M. Schmidt of Lincoln, is a senior in education at the University of Nebraska.

Mr. Morton is a pre-medicine senior at the University of Nebraska and will enter the University of Nebraska College of Medicine in the fall.

Raymond Club

To clear up the confusion for the members of the Raymond Woman's Club, the February meeting has been set ahead one week, not postponed.

The meeting will be held at 8 o'clock, Tuesday evening, Feb. 20, at the clubhouse.

Hostess

Miss Hazel Cooley entertained the members of the Fairview Extension Club at her home, Tuesday afternoon, when the group welcomed two new members, Mrs. Harris Jones and Mrs. Robert Sindlar.

Mrs. Lester Westland assisted Miss Cooley as hostess for the luncheon, and the program, "Meal Planning" was given by Mrs. Dale Maahs and Miss Ann Hendrickson.

Secret sister Valentine gifts were exchanged.

ABBY: Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: Please don't think I am bragging, but my problem is that I am too attractive. When I was in high school I never had any girl friends because they were all afraid I'd take their boy friends away from them. When I went to work I had to quit one job after another because my bosses were forever making passes at me. Now that I am married I have the same problem.

All my husband's friends proposition me and I have to tell them off. And we don't have any married couples to go around with because the wives are afraid of the competition. Sometimes I wish I were born ugly. What's the solution?

TOO ATTRACTIVE

DEAR TOO: Quit fooling yourself. If you aren't consciously inviting the attentions of the opposite sex, you must be unconsciously doing so. No man in his right mind makes a pass at a statue. He needs some encouragement. A woman who has to beat off every man she meets should find out why.

DEAR ABBY: We recently lost a beautiful baby girl and if one more person tells me "it was a blessing" that she died, I am going to scream. Our little girl was born with a defective heart. We knew it soon after she was born, but the doctor said she had a 50-50 chance to live a healthy normal life, so what kind of a "blessing" is it that she died?

We are mourning just as though she had been a healthy normal child. It would have been a "blessing" had she LIVED—not died. Will you please print this, without my name, to let people know that they are not consoling parents when they say "it was a blessing" that their child died. Thank you.

A GRIEVING MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: All who offered their condolences meant well, but I shall pass on your sincere and illuminating words to those who may find them helpful.

How has the world been treating you? Unload your problems on Dear Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069. For a personal, unpublished reply, inclose a self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Proposed State Dumping Regulations Said 'Too Stringent'

The State Health Department's proposed regulations for refuse disposal sites were criticized as "too stringent" for small towns and less populous counties during public hearing Wednesday.

Some 60 persons, including municipal and county officials, attended the hearing on regulations being proposed for the licensing and control of refuse and garbage dumps under a 1967 state law.

State Sanitiation Engineer T A. Filipi said the object of the law is to remove the health hazards, rat infestation, water pollution and unsightliness of uncontrolled dumping.

But, he emphasized, the department wants to develop regulations consistent with the law that communities can live with.

Kenneth Bowen, executive secretary of the League of Municipalities, said the regulations as proposed "would cause a hardship for the smaller towns."

Bowen said the requirements for lighting, building, fencing and fulltime employes could cause a financial problem for small towns.

Often As Necessary

Vern Martins of Wahoo suggested the required covering of sanitary landfills be changed from "a daily basis to as often as necessary."

He also suggested that regulations regarding equipment, facilities and employes should be less stringent for the second class cities.

Les Sanger of the Lincoln-Lancaster County Health Department also urged landfill covering be required "only as often as necessary."

Flexibility Urged

Lancaster County Board Chairman William Grossman urged greater flexibility as to operating equipment and manpower requirements.

Under the proposed rules, he said, the operating cost of a sanitary landfill would be $25,000 a year.

He said the county is considering several strategically-placed landfills, and operating costs could be reduced to $10,000 per site if equipment and men could be rotated around several sites.

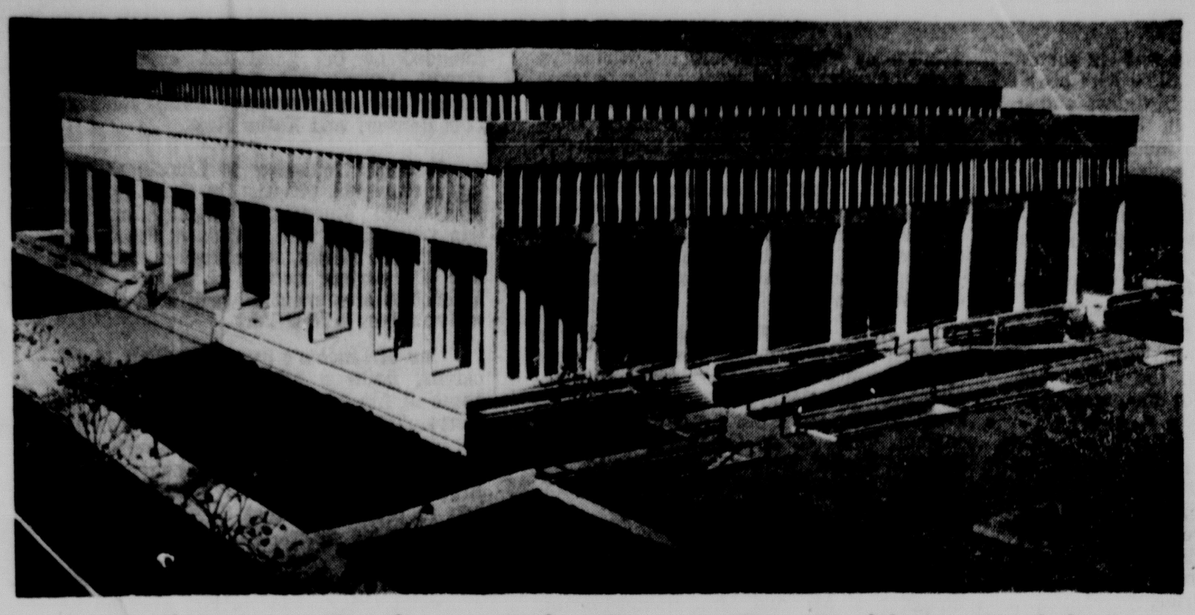
Same License Fee

Robert Ruth of Fremont said governmental subdivisions should be subject to the same license fee and bond requirements proposed for private operators.

Filipi said comments and suggestions of the hearing would be considered in the department's revision of the proposed regulations.

He said the hearing record would remain open until March 1 for written communications from communities and individuals.

The revised regulations will be submitted to the State Board of Health for final approval, and reviewed by the governor and attorney general before becoming effective.



Architecture Students Make County-City Building Model

A model of the County-City Building, under construction at 10th and J, is on display in the lobby of City Hall. The model was prepared by Robert Findley, James Patton, David Rodstein and David Wright, University of Nebraska School of Architecture students, for a class project. The County-City Building was designed by the Lincoln firms of Hemphill and Vierk and Clark and Enersen, Olsson, Burroughs and Thomsen. Policeman Describes UFO While Under Hypnosis

An Ashland police officer who reportedly saw an unidentified flying object (UFO) near Ashland on Dec. 3, 1967, said Thursday that he related the events of that night while under hypnosis in Boulder, Colo., this week.

"Under hypnosis I said a lot of things you wouldn't believe," said Herbert Schirmer, 22.

Schirmer and Ashland Police Chief William Wlaschin traveled to Boulder at the invitation of the UFO study group at the University of Colorado. The group is working under a contract with the U.S. Air Force.

'Form of Being'

Schirmer said the Colorado team told him that under hypnosis he related that he had communicated with some "form of being" who told him they would contact him again "within a year."

Schirmer said he described the beings as "white, human-figured shapes about four to five feet tall."

Schirmer said under hypnosis he told of trying to use the police car's radio and attempting to pull his gun from its holster, but "they prevented me from doing anything."

'Hit By Lights'

"They told me I said I was hit by flashing lights from the ship . . . (the lights) hit me in the neck and left a mark on the side of my neck that stayed for about 24 hours."

When Schirmer first told of the incident last December he said he had told Chief Wlaschin that he had a mark on the side of his neck that he couldn't explain.

He said he also told of the "beings" doing something to stall the patrol car engine and to turn off the vehicle's headlights.

Nearby Galaxy

He said under hypnosis he revealed that the beings had told him they "had bases on Jupiter or Venus and came from a nearby galaxy."

Schirmer said Dr. Leo Sprinkler from the University of Wyoming, the man who hypnotized him, said he (Schirmer) was telling the truth under hypnosis.

"And he said he believed me," added Schirmer.

Schirmer said Sprinkler "will probably come down to see me here in the future." He said the doctor may hypnotize him again if he comes to Ashland.

Shortly after the December incident, Schirmer said he had seen a football-shaped object hovering about eight feet above the ground near the junction of Highways 6 and 63 just south of Ashland.

Since then, the Ashland officer has subjected himself to a lie detector test and has cooperated with investigators from the Colorado team in studying the incident.

The Boulder team has been investigating the sighting for the past few weeks.

State Drug Control Unaltered By Supreme Court Reversal

A recent U.S. Supreme Court decision reversing the conviction of a Chicago narcotics peddler will not affect the State Patrol's drug control division, Atty. Gen. Clarence A. H. Meyer said Thursday.

The Chicago case involved information obtained from a tipster who later gave a phony name when called upon to testify in court.

Nebraska Patrol officials had been concerned that the Supreme Court ruling would hamper their efforts to secure drug abuse information from informants.

Meyer said the court decision does not require that tipsters be forced to testify in court. But, he added, if they do, they must use their correct names.

Meyer said the important thing is that information obtained from confidential sources can still be used to get a search warrant.

"In most cases, the arresting officers who find the drugs during the search provide the testimony that leads to conviction of the accused," he said.

The right of law enforcement officers to withhold the identity of their informants is known as the "informers privilege." Meyer said the purpose is to encourage witnesses to crimes to assist the police.

Without this privilege almost all of law enforcement would break down," the attorney general said.

Principal Rights Cited By Nixon

Boston (AP)—The most fundamental civil right is the right to be safe from violence and the most fundamental right of nations is to be safe from aggression, former Vice President Richard M. Nixon said Thursday.

Nixon said that when these rights are threatened force is needed.

Official Warns Schools Need Full Fire Protection System

The state fire marshal's office reported Thursday all Nebraska schools should have adequate fire protection systems by September.

Assistant Fire Marshal Stan Lux said the state has inspected over 200 schools in the last six months and found several in smaller towns and rural areas without fire protection systems.

"Most of those we found without the systems have or are now in the process of meeting state regulations," he said.

Lux said the fire marshal's office is inspecting the schools "as rapidly as possible" and that the job should be completed in time to have all schools fully protected when classes begin this fall.

The size of the unprotected schools varied from a small two-room rural one to junior and senior high schools.

In most cases, Lux said, school officials were not aware of fire protection regulations and some thought their schools were too small to be covered by the standards.

He said there has been no problem in connection with the newly-constructed schools. He said the state works closely with school officials to be sure an acceptable fire detection system is installed at the outset.

Troia, Italy (AP) — Amateur archaeologists found a pair of tombstones from the 2nd century B.C. serving as a front porch for a hen house. A farmer said he found them in his fields years ago.

CANADA'S GREENE WINS GOLD MEDAL

...U.S. Skiers May Be Shut Out; Hockey Team Wins

Grenoble, France (AP) — America's luckless skiers hovered on the brink of an Olympic shutout Thursday after four U.S. girls finished far off the winning pace blazed by Canada's Nancy Greene in the giant slalom — last women's Alpine event of the 1968 Winter Games.

U.S. Olympic forces also drew blanks in four other championship finals — the men's 5,000-meter speed skating, men's and women's luge singles and men's biathlon relay race — with a 6-4 consolation hockey victory over winless East Germany the day's only bright spot.

With three days of competition remaining on the skating rinks and ski slopes in and around this bustling winter resort town, the U.S. still needs one more medal to surpass the total of six accumulated in the 1964 Games at Innsbruck, Austria.

And the high hopes of Alpine ski pilot Bob Beattie, before a bizarre string of injuries and misfortune struck down his men's and women's teams, have dwindled to a single faint glimmer — for a medal-winner finish in Saturday's men's special slalom.

Jean-Claude Killy France's highballing ski marvel, goes for his third gold medal in the climatic Alpine test, with Americans Billy Kidd, Jimmy Heuga, Spider Sabich and Rick Chaffee given no better than outside chances of cracking the top three.

In hockey, Czechoslovakia upset defending champion and previously unbeaten Russia 5-4 while Canada took Sweden 3-0. That threw the fight for the gold medal into a three way scramble between Russia, Canada and Czechoslovakia, each with a 5-1 record and one game to go in the round robin tourney.

With nine of the 34 Olympic gold medals still up for grabs, the best U.S. bet appears to be Tim Wood, 19-year-old national figure skating champion, who goes into Friday night's free-skating finals in second place behind Austria's Wolfgang Schwarz.

Wood, of Boomfield Hills, Mich., climbed into contention Wednesday with a brilliant performance on the last three of his five compulsory figures.

Skaters have accounted for each of the half dozen medals captured by Americans thus far, with wondrous Peggy Fleming taking the lone gold award in women's figure skating.

Thursday, however, an American trio failed to make the top 20 as Norway's Fred Anton Maier won the men's 5,000-meter speed test in world record time of seven minutes, 22.4 seconds.

Manfred Schmid of Austria and Erika Lechner of Italy were declared the winners of the men's and women's luge singles on the basis of their first three runs after unfavorable weather caused cancelation of the fourth and final heats in the small sled races.

Russia took its third gold medal with a decisive triumph over Norway and Sweden in the 4 x 7.5-kilometer biathlon relay, which combines cross-country ski racing with rifle marksmanship.

Americans didn't expect to win medals in the luge or biathlon events — and none came close to upsetting the form charts.

The U.S. hockey team blew a two-goal lead in the third period before Larry Stordahl of Edina, Minn., and Paul Hurley of St. Paul, Minn., each fired his second goal of the game in the final 61 seconds. The victory gave the Americans, eliminated from medal contention in the round-robin tournament, a 2-4 record with one game remaining — against Finland Saturday.

Miss Greene zipped to a decisive 2.64 seconds victory over France's Annie Famose in the ladies' giant slalom for her second, and Canada's second medal in the Games.

"I was determined to win if I had to break my neck doing it," said the 24-year-old college coed, who had placed second to Marielle Goitschel of France in the special slalom two days ago.

Nancy tore down the 1,610-meter, 68-gate giant slalom course in one minute, 51.97 seconds, with Miss Famose second in 1:54.61 and Fernande Bochatay of Switzerland third in 1:54.74.

The triumph, coupled with her silver medal finish in the slalom and 10th place wind-up in the downhill, enabled the Canadian star to edge Misses Goitschel and Famose for the Olympic women's combined title.

The American girls, whose surprisingly strong runs in the special slalom Tuesday were erased by disqualifications and spills, again finished out of the running.

Judy Nagel, the 16-year-old schoolgirl from Enumclaw, Wash., who led in the slalom before tumbling on her second run, was 12th with a time of 1:57.39. Suzie Chaffee of Rutland, Vt., came in 17th in 1:58.38; Kiki Cutter of Bend, Ore., 21st in 1:59.52 and Wendy Allen of San Pedro, Calif., 22nd in 2:00.3.

"I took two gates backward today," said Judy. "They came upon me so fast I couldn't help it."

"It was a long, hard race," added Miss Chaffee, "and all the girls were huffing and puffing."

For Miss Greene, the 1967 World Cup Champion, it was almost a breeze. "I was really confident I would win," she said. "I think perhaps it was my greatest race ever. I don't know whether I made a mistake or not. I only know I attacked the course with everything I had."

2 Mistakes In Same Day

Observations of the sporting scene:

When 112-pounder Ray Oviedo stepped into the ring Wednesday night at Norfolk in defense of his district Golden Gloves title and was a TKO victim of Gary Montgomery in the second round, that was the second mistake he had made that day.

The first was getting married at 9 a.m. that morning.

A news item this week that didn't make many sports pages or sportscasts concerned the five Negro athletes at the University of Iowa who met and agreed to go along with the Negro boycott of the Olympics.

Three of the five were football players and the kind of seasons they've helped Iowa have, the Hawkeyes might be better off if they started the boycott at the Iowa Stadium.

It's foolish enough when the Tommie Smiths start threatening boycotts, but when a less than average football player on a less than average college football team decides to boycott, who cares?

Only One Day To Celebrate

Shipping a couple of observations in under the guise of sports because the fellow, who made them, is a former Golden Gloves boxer and announcer.

"People who are planning to celebrate St. Pat's day on March 16 just because the 17th falls on Sunday are all wrong," says Joe Cavanaugh, one of O'Neill's leading Irishmen. "It comes once a year and the day to celebrate it is on St. Pat's day, not the day before or the day after."

Cavanaugh suggests that if your city's laws forbid such celebration's on Sunday, you are welcome in O'Neill —if you are more than one-half Irish.

Cavanaugh, admitting a dislike for Britishers, says there's only one Englishman in 100 who can fight. "But then we Irish are a lot like that," he admits. "If wars were won at picnics, we'd own an empire."

Farm Boys Not As Smart

Hal Mitchell, the Offutt Sergeant who is eyeing an Olympics boxing team berth, didn't have to land a punch this year to win the Omaha City Golden Gloves title at 156.

The punches he has landed in past years seemed to scare all opposition into a banana-eating session to get into a higher weight, into a crash diet plan to get into a lower weight, or as a last resort, getting sick and not fighting at any weight.

But after rancher Bob Hixson of Neligh lost a split decision to Sioux City's Steve Eik at Norfolk Wednesday night, Hixson and his father, Vernon, asked to be considered for an alternate spot in Omaha if any are available.

There could be six alternate spots opposite Mitchell next weekend which would let Hixson in, which may only prove that farm boys aren't as smart as city slickers.

One has to wonder how long it will be before several men in Grand Island will get another night out alone after their wives allowed them to attend the opening round of the Grand Island Golden Gloves which didn't end until 2:30 a.m. What wife would believe that excuse?

Nebraska appears to finally be getting back at Alabama for its two thrashings suffered in post-season bowl games with Secretary of State Frank Marsh putting the former Alabama Governor on the spot.

If Bob Devaney could have cornered Bear Bryant the way Marsh has cornered George Wallace, Nebraskans may have had happier New Years a couple of times.

Bryant might suggest to Wallace that he claim he has been a victim of an illegal shift.

DOUBLE RECORD SETTER . . . Southeast's jubilant Stan Ewing throws his hands in the air after setting a city record in the 200-yard indivdual medley.

—S. AFRICA READMITTED—

Boycott Now A Possibility

Grenoble, France (AP)—South Africa, barred from the 1964 Olympics for its racial policies, was readmitted into the 1968 Olympics at Mexico City by a vote of an "absolute majority" of members of the International Olympic Committee.

The announcement here Thursday night immediately raised the possibility that several other African nations, and possibly the Soviet Union, might boycott the summer Games starting Oct. 12.

Russian sports officials at the Winter Olympics here had indicated earlier in the week that if South Africa competes in the Mexico City Games the Soviet Union won't.

Soviet officials, however, had no immediate reaction Thursday to the announcement by the IOC, ending the suspension which had kept South Africa out of the 1964 Summer and Winter Games and the current Winter Games in Grenoble.

Col. John Westerhoff, secretary of the IOC, said that a favorable postal vote had been made by the IOC on a resolution readmitting South Africa to Olympic competition. He did not disclose the exact vote but said it was an "absolute majority."

One source said the vote was 37 to 28 in favor.

Westerhoff said the vote had been received on the basis of several assurances by the South African government. The assurances included an integrated team, traveling and living together, wearing the same uniform and marching under the same flag.

Trials also would be integrated and selection of the teams would be made by an equal number of white and non-white officials.

The resolution on which the IOC members voted favorably allowed South Africa into the Mexico City Games but said the whole question of racial discrimination in sport would be reconsidered by the IOC at the end of 1970.

Principle one of the Olympic code rules that no person can be barred from competing because of either class, color or creed.

The IOC had suspended South Africa at a meeting in Baden-Baden, Germany, because of apartheid in South African sports.

The vote was greeted joyfully in South Africa by Prime Minister Balthazar J. Vorst and Olympic and sports officials.

Links Dethrone Knight Tankers

Team Scoring

Lincoln High	101	Northeast	41
Southeast	87	East	39

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

They rewrote the record book as Lincoln High captured the city high school swimming championships at East High Pool Thursday night.

The Links ended a nine-year Southeast domination in convincing fashion with 101 points, while the Knights were a distant second with 87. East's relay team won the final event but was disqualified for jumping in the pool before the race was over, allowing Northeast to sneak into third spot with 41 points. The Spartans settled for 39 and last place.

Coach Gene Cotter's crew from Lincoln High broke a tight meet wide open when Dan Dermyer flashed to a new meet record in the 100-yard backstroke with teammate Keith Ghormley right behind in second place.

At the time the Links held a slim three point, 59-56 edge over Southeast. After the backstroke scoring Lincoln held a commanding 71-57 margin.

The icing went on the cake in the next event. The Links' Spencer Luedke, who put two new meet records on the books, got one of them in the 400-yard freestyle with a 4:08.1 clocking. Again, it was a teammate, this time sophomore Mark Bryan, in the second spot.

That made it 83-62 and the suspense was over. Lincoln High had won and Southeast had failed to capture the title for the first time in ten years.

Of eight individual events on the program, the city tankers splashed their way to seven new records.

Leudke got the third one for the Links in the 200-yard freestyle.

Jim Pickeral, Northeast's one-man-gang, broke the oldest, a 1963 standard in the 50-yard freestyle. He also set a new mark in the 100-yard freestyle.

Stan Ewing, one of the nation's finest breaststrokers, broke two of his own records. He lowered the time in his specialty, and left the field in his wake as he also pushed the time lower in the individual medley.

Southeast won the opening relay event but when Luedke set his first record in the following 200-yard freestyle the Links grabbed a lead thay never relinquished.

Boynton's 66 Nets Phoenix Golf Lead

Phoenix, Ariz. (AP) — Frank Boynton, off the tour for the past four years, fired a five under par 66 Thursday to take the first round lead in the $100,000 Phoenix Open Golf Tournament.

Boynton, a 31-year-old club pro from Cleveland, collected seven birdies and a pair of bogeys over the damp Phoenix Country club course, a par 71 layout, playing much longer than its official 6,765 yards.

Bunched in second place at four under par 67 were Tommy Shaw, Marty Fleckman, Jack Montgomery and George Knudson.

Boynton didn't have a single three-putt green and rolled in two 30-foot putts for birdies on the fourth and 16th holes.

Baack Nearing 1,200-Point Level

Tom Baack is a near cinch to pass the 1,200-point mark in career scoring for Nebraska when the Huskers meet Kansas Saturday at Lawrence.

Baack, the season scoring leader with a 19.5 average, has scored 1,197 points as a Husker, giving a 57-point margin over teammate Stuart Lantz on the NU all-time scoring chart.

Green Bay Grid Stars (Preps) Coming To NU

Green Bay, Wis. (UPI) — Jerry Tagge and Dave Mason, all-state football stars who combined to shatter most Fox Valley Conference passing records, have signed tenders with the University of Nebraska, it was announced Thursday.

Tagge made UPI's all-state team at quarterback, but also was an all-conference linebacker. He is a top all-state basketball candidate and is considered a major league baseball prospect.

Mason caught a record 51 passes last season and also excelled at defensive back.

NU Finmen Test K-State, KU Tankers

Kansas and Kansas State provide the opposition as Nebraska's varsity and freshmen swimming teams make a two-day southern swing over the weekend.

John Reta's Cornhusker swimmers challenge K-State Friday afternoon and Kansas Saturday afternoon.

The Wildcats have individual standouts in Dick Rivera, the Big Eight's defending backstroke champion, Pierre Picotte, Mike Dumford and Dave Jackson. But lack of depth has hurt the K-Staters in a 2-7 campaign and Reta is hopeful the balanced Cornhuskers can win the road opener.

Kansas is much stronger as a 72-27 win over the Wildcats Monday would indicate. The Jayhawks are expected to challenge Iowa State for the Big Eight title and appear to have too much strength for the Nebraska team.

Omaha Knights Play At Home

Omaha — Omaha's Knights have a busy three game weekend ahead as they battle Houston on Ak-Sar-Ben ice Friday at 8 p.m. before hitting the road for a game in Tulsa Saturday night.

The Knights return home for a 7 p.m. engagement Sunday night with Dallas. A familiar face to Omaha fans will be in the Houston lineup as Claude La Rose, who was a star for the 1963-64 Knights team, will be playing.

La Rose has been a big scorer for the Montreal Canadiens, but since being hampered by injuries is playing himself back into form with the Apollos.

Russian Track Team Withdraws From NYAC Meet

New York (AP)—A delegation of seven Russian athletes announced Thursday night they are pulling out of the strife-torn and boycott-threatened New York Athletic Club track meet Friday night.

Col. Don Hull, Amateur Athletic Union executive director, quoted a Russian official as saying, "We are guests in your country and we don't want to risk injury crossing a picket line."

The official, who was not named by Hull said, "We want to stay in California and train."

Hull said no action would be taken against the Russians for withdrawing from the meet.

SPORTS FANS!

I BET YOU DIDN'T KNOW

By Roy C. Feltman

What was the shortest home run ever hit? . . . In a minor league game some years ago, a batter hit the ball a few inches in front of the plate . . . The umpire called it tair, but the pitcher and catcher thought the ball hit off the batter's foot before rolling in front of the plate, which would have made it foul . . . They stood and argued with the umpire, the ball resting six inches from home, while the batter raced around the bases and crossed the plate—with what turned out to be the shortest home run of all-time!

With all the big scores in pro basketball these days, did you ever wonder what the record is for the LOWEST scoring game in the history of the National Basketball Association? . . . It happened Nov. 22, 1950 when the Pistons beat the Lakers 19-18 . . . Believe it or not, that was the final score.

* * *

Here's a real sports teaser for you . . . Of all the heavyweight boxing champions in history, only one ever attended college . . . Can you guess which one? . . . Many people might say Gene Tunney, but that's not right . . . The only heavyweight champ who ever went to college was John L. Sullivan.

I bet you didn't know . . . That Bourbon Supreme is the only charcoal distilled whiskey in the world. Its good taste justifies its name. Ask for it by name at your favorite package store or tavern.

Winter Calls NU's Lantz Best

Kansas City — Nebraska's Stuart Lantz, one of six current 1,000-point scorers in the Big Eight, this week ranks as one of a kind in the conference.

"He is the best all-around player in the Big Eight," says Kansas State's Tex Winter and Lantz' statistics bear out Winter's appraisal. The Husker senior is the only Big Eight basketballer to be ranked among the Conference leaders in all four individual categories.

"He can do it all," adds his coach, Joe Cipriano, as he quickly sums up the attributes of the high-jumping, sure-shooting guard, center or forward, whichever he chooses to call him, who has been a big factor in Nebraska's drive for its first conference basketball championship since it tied for the top spot back in 1950.

Lantz has now climbed to fourth in the individual scoring race with his 20.3 average (162 points). He also shows up in sixth place among the rebounders with an 8.6 per-game mark (69 grabs). In shooting proficiency, Lantz is seventh from the field with a .518 record and 10th from the line with a .762 average.

It is in these last two departments that Nebraska's six-game winning streak is best reflected. Lantz has been the leader of the Husker surge which shows that, as a team, the Nebraskans have been hitting over 50 per cent from the field the last six games.

Lantz, himself, checked in

with almost a 55 per cent tally. From the line, the Huskers lead the conference with almost 77 per cent — they have missed only 17 of 98 in the last four games. Lantz, during that stretch, hit 14 straight before missing.

Meanwhile, his assist level has stayed high, helping open up teammate Tom Baack, who ranks third in the conference this week in scoring with a 20.5 mark, for good shots.

While Lantz was improving his standings in all five categories, Oklahoma's Don Sidle was able to trim a little more off the margins held by Iowa State's Don Smith in scoring and rebounding, in addition to moving into first place in field-goal accuracy. Sidle is second to Smith in both scoring (21.8 to 24.1) and rebounding (11.9 to 13.4), cutting the gap some himself during a head-to-head meeting by outrebounding the Cyclone, 15-7. Sidle's shooting percentage jumped to almost 59 when he hit nine of 11 against Iowa State.

Oklahoma State's Gene Hawk continues to lead the free throwers—he has missed only one of 30 tries in eight games. Strings of first 19 and now 10 straight put the little Cowboy guard into record contention, with his .967 average well above the league standard of .877 set by Missouri's Ken Doughty in 1963.

In the team categories, Oklahoma has taken over the field goal percentage lead with a .479 figure. Kansas State also jumped into a lead, taking the top spot in rebounding proficiency, regaining almost 53 per cent of the missed shots.

13 Defending Champs In State Mat Tourney

. . . STARTS TODAY AT NU COLISEUM

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

Forty-one grapplers who placed in last year's state meet, including 13 defending champions, return for the 1968 finals to be held on the University of Nebraska campus beginning Friday afternoon.

Four title holders in Class A and C, and five in Class B earned a chance for a repeat performance during the two-day event.

Class C heads the list of those who earned points a year ago, with 20 repeaters. Eighteen Class B wrestlers were among the top four in the various weight divisions last February, while 14 returnees get another chance in Class A.

Lincoln High's Bob Orta heads the Class A list. Orta was second at 95 pounds in 1966, then the champion at the same weight last year. He will attempt to add the 103-pound crown this weekend.

Other Class A champs include Dave Knutson, Scottsbluff, who is again in the 112-pound division this season; Dave Aaron, Boys Town, who captured the 120 title last year but wrestles at 127 now; and Creighton Prep's Joe George, who will try to repeat at 154 pounds.

Omaha South, which has had a stranglehold on the Class A team title, winning 19 team championships in the past, is without a single performer who scored a year ago. The Packers did qualify eight matmen for the finals, however, and are considered a title threat again.

Scottsbluff, which finished second last time, qualified 11, the greatest number in Class A. In addition to Knutson, Scottsbluff will have eight district champions on hand, including Bill Watson at 127 pounds, who finished second at 120 in last year's state meet.

Lexington and Albion finished 1-2 in Class B in 1967, and each has two defending champions returning this weekend.

The Albion squad is headed by Ted Borer, who was fourth at 112 in 1966 and captured the 120 crown last year. He will perform at 127 pounds.

Harry Fox moves up a division also. He took the 127 trophy back to Albion last season.

Having moved up a weight class, Fox will run head-on into 133-pound champion Vic Smith of Lexington who is back to defend his crown.

Lexington's other defending champ is Gary Appleton. Winner of the 103 class in 1967, he returns in the 112 division.

The fifth Class B champion is Valentine's Art Buechle. The 95-pound winner last year, Buechle will compete a weight class higher.

This meet is the second to include Class C. In the inaugural year, Rushville captured the team title with Crawford second and Harrisburg third.

Harrisburg has two returning champions and four grapplers who scored, to lead the field.

Jim Gifford won the 112-pound title and Dave Holt the 145 crown. They each have moved up a weight division.

Rushville has a single champion back, Bob Janssen, who captured the 133-pound trophy last year. He will face another champion this year, for Amherst's Dave Axmann has returned to defend his 138-pound crown. Janssen is in the same weight class this year.

The 1967 state meet scorers returning, with last year's finish and weight class, include:

East Battles 2 City Foes

. . . 5 GAMES IN LINCOLN

By VIRGIL PARKER
Prep Sports Writer

The fast-improving East High Spartans face two intracity basketball battles to highlight a five-game local weekend schedule.

Coach Paul Forch's quintet stayed with second-rated Southeast for three quarters last Saturday. The Spartans were down by four, 40-36, with less than two minutes remaining in the third period.

A cold final stanza and a sudden spurt by the Knights saw the contest turn into a 61-41 runaway.

Friday night, Forch's forces were in the Fremont battle for the first half, trailing by six at intermission. A cold third quarter proved the downfall when the Spartans managed but nine points.

East, now 1-11 on the year, tangles with Lincoln High Friday and Northeast on Saturday. Both games are slated for Pershing Auditorium.

The Links handed East a 74-34 drubbing at the start of the season, while this marks the first basketball clash ever with Northeast.

Two other local games are set for Friday. Wally McNaught's Southeast cagers play their only game of the weekend tonight at Johnson Gym when they host Kearney.

Coach Lane Birkel's Pius X club has two weekend games. They entertain Omaha Bishop Ryan at home Friday, then travel to Omaha Saturday for a battle with Rummel.

Following the tussle with East, the fifth-ranked Links play their final home game of the season Saturday at Johnson Gym. Omaha Westside provides the opposition for coach Alden Johnson's club.

The weekend action is the last between local schools prior to the district tournaments when East-Northeast and Lincoln-Pius will again tangle in first round games.

Every now and then a VW runs into a little trouble at the factory.

That hunk of junk was well on its way to being a Volkswagen, when it ran into a stone wall: A bunch of hard-nosed inspectors who pull enough parts off the line every day to make the equivalent of 20 cars. Or 2 freight cars full of scrap.
There are thousands of inspectors who pick every VW to pieces, every step of the way.
If there's a little scratch in a fender, it gets scratched. If there's a little nick in a bumper, it gets bumped.
Wherever ten people are doing something, there's an inspector to undo it. For the paint job alone, no less than 8 inspectors check every VW.
All that inspection doesn't mean the work isn't done carefully. The men who make the VW make it very well.
The inspectors just make it perfect.

Plainsman Thinclads Run Today

Nebraska Wesleyan track coach Woody Greeno puts his team through its first meet today and, more than anything else, the NWU coach is curious.

The triangular with Omaha and Peru begins at 7 p.m. in the Omaha U. Fieldhouse.

Knowing full well what his lettermen can do, the opening meet will give Greeno a chance to see what his freshmen and newcomers can do.

Pius X first-year men Rick Shibata and Bill Hussey are being counted on in the sprints. Shibata must show he's recovered from an injury which shelved him during his senior year as a prep.

Hurdler Tippy Dye, a senior, will be trying to regain his sophomore form after sitting out last season with back problems.

Greeno will have distance men Joe Rohack, Chuck Wallerstedt and Ken Ocker under close scrutiny too. Rochack will go in the mile, Wallerstedt in the two-mile and Ocker in the 600.

Freshmen Kent Swanson and Harvey Meyers have shown promise in the weight events and Greeno admits he's eager to see how they fare. Transfer Dan Slaikeu will get his first test in the high jump too.

"I wish we had had some better days to go outside," Greeno said, "but that's the way it is this time of year."

Commission Sets Dates For Game At Capitol Today

Nebraska's 1968 spring wild turkey season will be set at a Game Commission meeting today in the State Capitol office of M. O. Steen, Commission Director.

Number of permits, dates, and shooting hours will be decided at a 9:30 a.m. public hearing. The 1967 spring turkey season was 10 days long, from April 22 through May 1.

Also to be established at the morning session are opening dates for all Nebraska hunting seasons except waterfowl. Recommendations for opening dates on pheasant, grouse, quail, turkey, antelope, deer, cottontail, and squirrel will be made by Game Commission technicians. Any individuals or groups with suggestions or requests will have an opportunity to speak.

Among other items on the agenda is a hearing on a proposed development at Branched Oak Reservoir, the newest and largest lake in the Salt Valley Watershed.

Wayne, Doane May Be Staging Playoff Preview

Wayne — Victorious over Hastings in conference play Tuesday night, Wayne State's cage team clinched at least a tie for the Nebraska College Conference title, and now the Wildcats turn to another problem — a return match with Doane College at Crete tonight.

In this game the stakes are different. Both Wayne and Doane are front runners in the NAIA Nebraska District competition for a berth in the national NAIA tourney. Doane can gain the district playoff as Nebraska's leading independent among NAIA colleges.

Wayne also can enter the playoff if it wins the NCC title outright. With a 6-1 league mark, Wayne must beat Peru here Wednesday to earn that title. Chadron, 5-2 in the conference with one NCC game left at Kearney Saturday, could get a championship share if Wayne falls to Peru. Such a result probably would mean a single-game playoff to pick the NCC's entry in district combat.

Florida Governor Lashes At Wallace

. . . DURING VISIT HERE

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Florida's Republican Gov. Claude Kirk swept through Nebraska Thursday with a broadside assault on former Alabama Gov. George Wallace's third party presidential candidacy.

In unusually rough political language, Kirk said Wallace's tentative choice of former Georgia Gov. Marvin Griffin as his vice presidential running mate puts the stamp of "corruption" on the Wallace campaign.

"Griffin really means corruption," Kirk charged. As Georgia's governor, he operated "a corrupt administration," he declared.

'Very Bottom'

Wallace reached into "the very, very bottom of the absolute barrel," the Florida governor told a Lincoln news conference.

Meanwhile, as he has done before, Kirk flatly charged that the Wallace candidacy is "a vicious plot undertaken with the concurrence of the President" to damage Republican presidential hopes in 1968.

Asked if the purpose of Kirk's present swing through four states is to "chop down Wallace," the governor shot back: "You'd better believe it. Write that down three or four times."

'Well Done'

Kirk gave Republican Secretary of State Frank Marsh a "well done" for his decision to enter Wallace's name on Nebraska's presidential primary ballot as a Democratic candidate.

"That is exactly as it should be," Kirk said.

Wallace is a registered Democrat, he noted.

"And he walks like a Democrat, and he talks like a Democrat, and he hangs around with Democrats. Why, he's bound to be a Democrat."

Kirk dodged speculation that he is actively seeking the GOP vice presidential nod or that his frontal assaults on Wallace may be designed to convince Republicans that they ought to nominate a Southerner as their running mate in order to combat Wallace's appeal in the South.

Kirk, 42, formerly a Jacksonville banker, is Florida's first Republican governor since 1872.

Wasting Vote

American voters who heed the siren call of Wallace's third party will be engaging in "an un-American activity," Kirk suggested, namely "throwing your vote away."

The third party "plot," he said, is designed to give voters who disagree with President Johnson's policies an alternative other than the Republican Party, thus robbing the GOP of Johnson protest votes next November.

Kirk, who has been closely identified as a supporter of former Vice President Richard Nixon, says he has no choice for the GOP presidential nomination.

Later, Kirk was Gov. Norbert Tiemann's guest at a luncheon with Republican state executive committee members at the Governor's Mansion.

Questioned

Following the luncheon, he answered questions about a number of issues, including Florida's activities with Cuban refugees and his own position on proposed removal of the cover on gold.

Queried later in the day after Kirk had left Lincoln for a speaking tour in Oregon, California and Arizona, Tiemann said his Florida colleague did not raise vice presidential discussion with him either in private or public.

One of Kirk's stopping places, Oregon, will have a vice presidential contest in its May 28 primary election. Candidates can be entered on the ballot by petitions containing at least 1,000 signatures.

Late arrival in Lincoln caused cancellation of Kirk's scheduled speaking appearance at Doane College.

Omaha Firm Gets ETV Center Assignment

The Nebraska Educational Television Commission voted Thursday to negotiate with the Omaha architectural firm of Henningson, Durham & Richardson to design a telecommunications center for the Nebraska ETV network.

The firm was chosen from among six which made presentations at an all-day commission meeting.

The 1967 Legislature appropriated $250,000 for design of the proposed building, with plans to be prepared and reviewed before the Legislature convenes in January of 1969.

The building is expected to include facilities for the Nebraska Telecommunications System Division as well as quarters for Lincoln-based activities of the ETV network. The suggested site is immediately north of the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education on the University of Nebraska's East Campus.

Other firms which made presentations in quest of the design assignment included Dana, Larson, Roubal & Associates, Omaha; Leo A. Daly Co., Omaha; Unthank & Unthank, Lincoln; Davis & Wilson, Inc., Lincoln, and Clark & Enersen, Olsson, Burroughs and Thomsen, Lincoln.

Nixon Supporter Files As Confab Delegate

William C. Fraser of Omaha Thursday filed for election with the secretary of state as a delegate to the Republican National Convention from the Second Congressional District, pledged to Richard Nixon.

Hossack Hoping To Unfreeze Road Funds

State Engineer John Hossack meets with Federal Highway Administrator Lowell K. Bridwell in Washington Friday in an effort to unfreeze some federal highway funds.

The U.S. Transportation Department announced last month it was withholding some federal highway funds from the states in an anti-inflationary move.

Nebraska, which had been apportioned about $36 million for the year, was advised it would be permitted to obligate slightly less than $28 million.

Hossack said he has a list of highway projects to submit to Bridwell. These include projects which would require release of some of the forzen funds.

Hossack declined to say exactly which projects are included in the $8 million allowance and which are additional, but said a request will be made for approximately $7 million in construction funds to help close the downtown Omaha Interstate highway gap.

Stock Mart Posts Another Advance

New York (AP) — The stock market's technical rebound managed to survive some profit taking Thursday and the result was the second straight advance. Trading slowed.

Volume dropped to 9.77 million shares from 11.39 million Wednesday when stocks rebounded sharply from a three-day battering under the impact of disquieting news from Asia.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose 1.85 at 839.23. It backed away from its best early rise of 3.47.

After a show of strength at the start, a number of the highflying glamor stocks and conglomerates had the rug pulled out from under them by traders who were doing their usual Thursday trick of evening up gains and losses in advance of another weekend.

Teledyne fell 3 ¾, "Automatic" Sprinkler 6¼, Litton Industries 2½, Sperry-Rand 2, Occidental Petroleum when-issued 1½, Gulf & Western 1 and Republic Corp. 3⅛ — among the very active issues.

Moore & McCormack was the most active stock, up 1 at 27 on 434,400 shares.

The drift among the trading favorites was definitely on the downside, with 10 of the 15 most active stocks lower, 4 higher and Glen Alden unchanged.

In the New York Stock Exchange list of 1,498 issues traded, however, gains outnumbered losses by 803 to 480. New highs for 1967-'68 totaled 14 and new lows 33.

The 30 Dow industrials showed a slimmer upside edge, with 14 up, 11 down and 5 unchanged. The Associated Press average of 60 stocks advanced 1.4 to 307.9 with industrials up 1.2, rails up 1.8 and utilities up .5.

Nothing of a drastic nature came from the hot spots in Vietnam and North Korea but the domestic economic news was drab.

The New York Stock Exchange index gained 10 cents at $50.42.

Prices on the American Stock Exchange were higher. Volume was 4.35 million shares compared with 4.84 million Wednesday.

Late Buying Lifts Soybeans, Grains

Chicago (AP) — A late surge of buying lifted soybeans and grain futures prices from an irregularly lower trend to the plus side of the ledger on the Chicago Board of Trade Thursday.

The nearby rye contract made the best advance of the day—2⅜ cents a bushel—while the nearby oats contract showed an advance of 1⅜ cents. Both commodities reflected a tight supply situation in Chicago.

Trade was at a moderate, pace, except for periodic lulls of inactivity and prices were mostly lower until the last hour. Then, traders turned to buying in the belief that the U.S. Department of Agriculture report on the number of farmers who have signed up under the government feed grain program has been increasing. The report was to have been issued after the close of business, but was held up until Friday.

When trade closed, wheat was ⅛ to ½ cent a bushel higher, March 1.49⅜-¼; corn ⅛ to ¼ higher, March 1.19⅜-½; oats ¼ lower to 1¼ higher, March 79¼ cents; rye 1½ to 2¼ higher, March 1.24¼; and soybeans ⅛ to ⅝ higher, March 2.74-73⅞.

LEA Council Plans To Fight Attacks On Broad Tax Base

By DAN DICKMEYER
Star Staff Writer

The Lincoln Education Association Council went on record Thursday in support of a broadened tax base "as the most fair and equitable tax system for the State of Nebraska and its subdivisions."

"The Lincoln Education Association will strongly resist any and all attempts to nullify the action of the 1967 session of the Legislature" . . . and encourages the members . . . to oppose petitions which would destroy the fair and equitable tax base the state now has," the motion stated.

The council also went on record opposed to a petition being circulated which would set a limit on state spending. The council said such limits are "unworkable."

Motion Defeated

A motion from the floor that the LEA follow the recommendations of the Council of State Governments and back removal of all tax law limitations prescribed by the state constitution was defeated. A state property tax is now banned by the Nebraska Constitution.

In other business, the retirement committee submitted a resolution, which was passed by the council, requesting the Board of Education to revise its employee retirement plan.

In essence the resolution supports the position taken by the board of directors of the LEA in a detailed letter sent last week to the Board of Education and the superintendent of schools. In the letter were three requests also made in the resolution:

—to provide retirement benefits independent of earned retirement from other sources.

—to provide benefits for those with less than 20 years of service.

—to provide benefits for those who elect to retire prior to age 65.

Committee Discussed

The council tabled a motion by the board of directors that the LEA no longer be responsible for the election of representatives to the personnel advisory committee. The committee acts as a liason between the faculty and the administration in matters related to work loads.

The board questioned the function and purpose of the committee and said that there had been "very little feedback" from the administration to the committee.

Backers of the committee said that it provided a line of communication with the administration and may head off problems before they become actual grievances. The board indicated that the committee could come into conflict with the LEA professional rights and responsibilities committee, which deals with actual grievances to the administration.

A temporary slate of officers was presented at the February meeting of the council.

Nominated for president for the coming fiscal year were Luella Craig of Sheridan and Carol French of East High. Dennis Frederick of Everett and Gunnar Overgaard of Southeast are candidates for president-elect who will serve as president the following year.

Candidates for the offices of treasurer and secretary are still needed. A final slate will be presented in March.

Price Of Water Reportedly Up At City School

The price of water has gone up at one elementary school in Lincoln, if a report presented to the Lincoln Education Association Counell proves true.

Quizzical, if not concerned, expressions accompanied some laughter when a member of the welfare and benefits committee announced that "in some cases there have been charges of five cents a glass for cold water to teachers who bring their own lunch."

A council member said later that this is the third time he has heard the charge. He said the charge was also made in a meeting of the committee on standing committees and in the welfare and benefits committee.

The report to the council stated that the principal of the school alleged to be involved was in the audience and has given notice that he will bring the matter to the attention of his school's lunch room supervisor.

Included in last month's placement total was a 190% increase in ordnance manufacturing and a 74% increase in electronics manufacturing.

Apartment Hit By Fierce Fire

Fire Department officials battled a fire in an apartment at 2010 So. 11th for about an hour Thursday evening before bringing it under control.

Cause of the fire, which caused extensive damage to the apartment and considerable smoke damage to other apartments in the building, was not immediately determined by officials.

The blaze started in the apartment of Dr. Robert Nelson, an intern at St. Elizabeth Hospital, who left to give emergency treatment to a patient shortly before the fire broke out.

Demos Hold Registration Margin Over Republicans In 2nd District

By Associated Press

Voter registration figures suggested Thursday that if Democrats are going to crack the Republican hold on Nebraska congressional seats this year, they stand their best chance in the newly-enlarged Second District, currently represented by Republican Rep. Glenn Cunningham of Omaha.

In fact, a strictly party line vote by every currently registered voter would give a Second District Democratic candidate a percentage bulge of about 55 to 45 over a Republican opponent, study discloses.

Two Democrats emerged this week as Cunningham challengers — Douglas County Board Chairman John J. Cavanaugh and Mrs. Maxine Morrison, wife of former Gov. Frank B. Morrison. Cavanaugh completed his filing with the secretary of state late Wednesday.

Now Required

Statewide voter registration is required for the first time this year, and monthly progress reports have been assembled by Secretary of State Frank Marsh.

The latest tally based on Feb. 1 figures showed registered Republicans outnumbering Democrats 275,241 to 242,972 over the state, with another 14,145 registered as independents.

But analysis shows that in the five-county Second Congressional District, registered Democrats dominate 98,404 to 78,145, with another 6,139 listed as independents.

Republicans Lead

In the new First District, registered Republicans outnumber Democrats 98,132 to 75,659, with independents totaling 4,530.

In the sprawling Third District embracing most of the western two-thirds of Nebras largest advantage, 98,964, to 68,909, with 3,476 independents

Although registrations favor Democrats in only the Second District, the last Democratic congressman, Clair Callan of Odell, was elected in the First District. Callan served one term before being replaced by Republican Rep. Robert V. Denney in the 1966 election.

The Legislature last month reapportioned the congressional districts, transferring Burt County from the First to the Second District, and moving Platte and Polk from the First to the Third.

To Equalize

The changes, since approved by the federal court, were designed to equalize populations among the districts in line with the U.S. constitution's one-man, one-vote requirement.

On the basis of voters currently registered, however, the Second District ranks as considerably larger than the other two.

Registrants total 182,688 in the Second District, 178,321 in the First, and 171,349 in the Third.

The disparity is explained by the fact that a large proportion of the population in the Second District, including those in Douglas and Sarpy Counties, already were under voter registration requirements before the statewide requirement took effect.

Voter registration previously had been required in only 12 of the state's 93 counties.

Northern Systems, Federal Chiefs Still 'Shadowboxing'

J. O. Grantham said Wednesday that Northern Systems Co. is "still shadowboxing" with federal officials in Washington over the possibility of using Lincoln Job Corps Center staff members in other federal programs.

Likewise at issue, he said, is the future federal use of the facilities at the Lincoln center, due to be closed next month.

But according to Grantham, vice president of the Northern Natural Gas Co. subsidiary that operates the center, use of the personnel and use of the Lincoln campus "are not irrevocably linked together."

He said there will be formal meetings Friday with Department of Labor officials to discuss Northern System's possible future role in other federal programs, including manpower training projects.

Northern officials waited in vain Thursday for scheduled talks with federal spokesmen, Grantham said.

Meanwhile, Mayor Sam Schwartzkopf said a six-member "Mayor's Development team" will meet for the first time next Wednesday to formulate plans to find uses for the 500-acre Job Corps campus when the government returns control of the property to the city.

The government has not as yet told the city what it intends to do with the facility, the mayor said.

However, an Office of Economic Opportunity news letter issued earlier this month said the anti-poverty agency intends to hold on to closed-down centers for possible use under other programs until the end of fiscal 1969.

Crete Man Added To Road Deaths

August Wohl, 75, of Crete Thursday was added to the list of traffic deaths for 1968.

Mr. Wohl died Feb. 5 of injuries suffered in a two car accident Jan. 31 near Kramer. He was a passenger in a car driven by August Mundt of Crete.

State Accident Records Bureau chief Tom Ryan said Mr. Wohl's death brought to 59 the number of perons killed on Nebraska highways this year. This is 15 more than during a similar period a year ago and an increase of 34%.

Ryan said the 59th fatality during 1964, the worst year on record, was not reached until March 8. He attributed the sharp increase to the number of multiple deaths in traffic accidents.

R. V. Broer Dies After Taking Swim

A 22-year-old Lincoln man died late Thursday afternoon after he was found unconscious in a Central YMCA locker room, officials said. His death was attributed to natural causes.

Officials said that Richard V. Broer, 2205 West Van Dorn, was discovered in the locker room by companions with whom he had been swimming earlier.

His friends said that Broer had complained of not feeling well and had left the pool. He was discovered, unconscious, in the locker room a short time later, officials said.

Broer was pronounced dead on arrival at Bryan Memorial Hospital, officials said.

He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Walter J. Broer of Lincoln; two brothers, Walter L. of Lincoln and Eric H. of Falls City; and three sisters, Mrs. Herman R. Kurth of Pontiac, Mich., Mrs. Albert W. Brown and Mrs. Courtney Dillingham, both of Lincoln.

Therapists Elect Mrs. G. Darby

Mrs. Grace Darby, chief of recreation therapy at the Lincoln Veterans Hospital, was elected president of the Nebraska Association of Recreation Therapists at a meeting of approximately 100 therapists from hospitals and nursing homes in Nebraska.

James Field, Norfolk State Hospital recreation director, was elected vice president, and Mrs. Rose Hanzlicek, recreation director at the Lincoln State Hospital, was elected secretary-treasurer.

Gains Reported In Membership Drive By 'YM'

Central and Southeast YMCA branches Thursday night reported themselves near the mid-way marks to their respective goals in the 1968 membership drive.

Central YMCA officials reported a total of 592 members and a monetary total of $21,592, or 51.6% of the branch's total goal of $42,000.

Southeast branch officials reported 250 members to date and a total of $2,620, or 43.6% of a $6,000 total goal.

Here's How To Work It

One letter simply stands for another in this example. A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophes, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

Here is a practical little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.
